

I got a question for yall. Would you rather have a near perfect person, good at studying, good lookin, smooth talking person be president or have a regular person be president. See both of them give something the other can't. The perfect person, with no offense to anyone, is perfect, they don't think like you or me, they think "whats the BEST way to do this" while you and me are thinking "How do we make this the most enjoyable time" See, my goal isn't to make the cookie cutter version of good, I want to make this year the best time of our lives. Obviously I'm not the one with all the power and influence, there are the other candidates, which could be better or worse than me, and other positions. I'm just saying that, between you and me, I think I could do a hell of a job to make our freshman year better. I know for a fact that I'm not the best candidate, and I know a lot of you guys know me to not be... exemplary. But that gives you another reason to vote for me, a person who thinks, acts, and is just like you, Vote Aiden Lim for Green hope highschool president.
