

AGOGE NEW IDENTITY TEMPLATE

The Ideal Version of Yourself 3-6 Months From Now

My Power Phrases (2-3)

- I am KING Julian, I will always give everything, no matter the circumstances.
 - I do what I say, and say what I do
 - Your fallen brother is looking at you.
 - Are you really going to let her down? Let her suffer? NO!
 - Papa, ik heb honger, waarom hebben we geen eten??
-

My Core Values (2-3)

- Positivity
 - Inspiring
 - Leadership
-

My Daily Non-Negotiables (2-3)

- TRW Daily checklist
- Free of social media, especially youtube. You are a man, not a child, find better things to do with your time.

- Stand in your own power. Take the lead in your own life and the life of your loved ones. Give your future bloodline a good example of what a man should be.

My Goals Achieved

- Achieving 2000 euros monthly

Wow! What a week! After all this time inside the real world, falling off again and again, but not giving up, I have finally achieved my first major goal inside the real world. I have made 2000 euros this month from my marketing services. 2 weeks ago, I finally stepped up and said, enough is enough. This is fucking shit, I felt like my manlyhood was slipping away from me. I will describe my life before, I have never fully fallen down, but I was almost always lazy. Being scared of doing the work, doing what you know you're supposed to do. You go to bed with shame and guilt, you betray your future self. But one day, I said enough is enough. I stepped up, deleted cheap consumption from my life and started grinding away. Actually doing things, putting relentless energy into the universe because that is what it takes to get the rewards. I started with an immense amount of outreach, got some clients and just crushed it for them. I stepped up and sold them for high prices. And there we are, 2000 euros this month. I am done with being a loser, I have fallen in love with the constant conquest and I am hungry for more. I will make sure I scale this up, right now I almost stop my loan from the government and live on my own made money. I am not doing that just yet, but this already gives me so much more opportunity to go out and carve millions of fortune for me and my family. She thought I was bulshitting whenever I said I wocanuld buy a castle, no girl, I am buying a fucking castle in the future. I will make that happen just because I fucking can. I will live there with my brothers and my family, enjoying the highest form of life there is. But that is still a dream, I have made the dream of achieving 2000 euros monthly true, so I will make that castle come true, it will be mine. Why? Because I don't give up.

- Paying off my student debt at the end of the year.

After months of work, all the conquest, just fearlessly moving forward. I can finally say I have paid off my student debt in record time, all by myself! The first goal was about making sure I can live on my own terms. No government payment has been done in a couple months, I have the ability to make my own money and pay for my expenses. Then it was all about getting my student debt away, I don't want it. It was a good decision to step into the student loans, I have learned a lot because of that decision. I don't think I would be standing here making my own money if it wasn't for the decision to move out. I know what I am capable of, what man I am, I right now know that I can make my own money. I have paid it all back, I will go and sit her down and tell everything. I have paid it all back in one big sum of money. I have invested my money wisely and am moving towards making big money. When I get to about 200K, I will pay off the student debts of my brother, all in one go. That is still a dream right now, so... get to work, take control, don't waste your time and go all in. Let's make millions of dollars and get to the category of "fuck you money".

- Paying off my parents house.

This goal is something big, something that I really wanted to achieve. My parents have always provided for me, their thinking has maybe not been that of a millionaire, that is the whole reason why they are not one, but they always wanted me to succeed in life. I have now taken control of my own life, and I have really send it into the fucking stratosphere, this moment right here is a confirmation that I am on the right track.

I decided that I will tell everything at the dinner table. When everyone is there, I have already told my girlfriend that I will tell it this evening, she is so amazingly proud of me and I am so grateful for the love I receive from her, I feel like the luckiest man alive. My mother has prepared a big meal, we are with 8 people right now. As I am finished with eating, I slowly make sure all the attention is on me, as I start speaking, I can see that everyone is curious to what I am about to say. I tell my story, how I got into marketing and that it is going quite successfully right now. Then I say it, because of all my success, I have decided to pay off this house for you and I will pay off the student debts of my brother and his girlfriend. Why they ask, why?! I tell them that I do not want to spend my money on some stupid material reward, I cannot live with myself, driving an expensive car or something all while you guys have some payments that needs to be taken care off. I will make more money, don't worry! I can feel an immense amount of gratitude from my loved ones, I can also feel they respect me a lot more now. I have become a man, I am still a son and a brother, but I am not a little child anymore. They see me as a leader, they look up to me, I inspire them, that is what I always wanted.

This achievement makes me want to conquer more, get everything, excel towards more greatness. I don't care what stands in my way, but I will keep making more and more money. You cannot stop me, I will be the hero of my family, the hero of my bloodline. I will be the best man this earth has ever seen.

My Rewards Earned

- Indulging in an expensive dinner, at a top quality restaurant with my family.

Everyone is there, we indulge in multiple dinner courses, time feels endless. Nothing to worry about, my whole life is going exactly as I want it to go. Beautiful girlfriend, capable strong body, big money in the bank and working towards an even greater version of myself, an even greater life. A life where I have millions to spend and can do it without concern. Living with my brothers on a big piece of land, that is still a dream of mine. I take a look at the people around the table, then at my girlfriend, a couple months ago it was all so new. I know I should keep her by my side, she had fallen in love with ME, not my money or lifestyle, but right now I can give her that exceptional life. This dinner, this life, these moments I can give her fulfills me the most. This is what life being a man is about, providing for your loved ones, giving them an exceptional life and in return receiving endless love.

- Buying my own car and taking it for a sunny drive with my brothers.

I have had this dream for so long. Buying my own car has always been a dream, but after both my brothers had bought a car, I really wanted my own car. The ease of my own car and being completely able to afford it has become real. A Beautiful Red Toyota MR2, this is the car I just bought. It is a nice one, perfectly taken care of by the previous owner, it runs beautifully. It is a beautiful sunny day, I took the initiative to take all three cars out for a beautiful countryside ride, all day long, through beautiful roads and streets. Together with our girlfriends, we start touring all day long. Getting lunch in a beautiful little town, it tastes amazing. Mainly because of the company, my brothers and their girlfriends. This is what I have worked for, this is why I bought my car. Driving it is fun and feels amazing, like we are on the top of the world. We park the cars, all lined up for an amazing picture. Three cars, three brothers, three amazing girls. This was always a dream and I have made it real. By stepping up, taking control, taking initiative. Being the leader. Right now it is with these relatively cheap cars, in a few years time, it will be millions worth of cars. We will probably live life together and experience many more great adventures, together as brothers.

- Buying my first house

As I set down my signature, I feel an immense amount of satisfaction. I have just bought my first house. With my girlfriend by my side, we share a hug and a kiss. She is so amazingly proud of me, I can see the love in her eyes when she looks at me with absolute adoration. It feels incredible, now time for moving... Moving all my stuff to my new home is a lot of work. But I do not have to do it alone like last time, my girlfriend, parents and brothers are all helping out. It is a beautiful home, high ceilings, characteristic walls, exactly how I imagined it. It is a house with character, the street has awesome big trees and so many more beautiful houses. A couple weeks later, I have fully moved, settled in, my new place is complete and I invite the whole family to dinner. As the evening sets, we start dining in a beautiful setting, bullshitting around with my brothers and enjoying each other's company. They look up to me, I have become the leader of this family, this fulfills me immensely. I love my life and the people in it, right now I have finally bought my own place, but I am hungry for more, more conquest. That is the natural state of my manly soul, I will not fail my family. Keep moving forward.

My Appearance And How Others Perceive Him

- Wearing my well-fitted attire, I ooze an air of professionalism and meticulousness. Each piece, carefully selected and expertly tailored, showcases not just sartorial elegance but a deep respect for myself. This deliberate attention to detail bolsters my self-confidence, radiating a sense of competence and cultural sensitivity that's crucial for making impactful first impressions across a variety of professional and social settings.
- I maintain a well-groomed appearance that sets a standard of trustworthiness and competence. From my neatly styled hair to my polished shoes, every aspect of my grooming regimen reflects my personal discipline and pride. This consistent attention to my presentation conveys a strong sense of health, hygiene, and dedication, enhancing my persona as a magnetic figure in negotiations and networking.
- I carry myself with a posture that projects confidence and authority. My presence in any room is immediately palpable; my body language—open, purposeful, and poised—clearly signals leadership and accessibility. Whether I am leading a team, engaging in a critical discussion, or navigating a social gathering, my expressive, confident movements and the clarity of my non-verbal communication ensure that I am both respected and approachable.
- I walk around the world with an intense look in my eyes, they sparkle and radiate positivity and leadership. I have built myself up, from the bottom all because of a dream. A dream to provide for my family, become the man that changes everything and inspire greatness in all the people I interact with. Together with my girlfriend by my side, I move the world, change it for the better. Giving her the wonderful life she deserves and being someone that she can look up to for positive inspiration, look up to when she feels a little overwhelmed in her own life, someone where she can be vulnerable. I carry myself as the leader that I am and that everyone needs, being the light in the lives of my loved ones, where they can look if they want to feel inspired.

My Day In The Life Stories.

- As I see the morning sunshine shine through the blinds, my body slowly wakes up, after a minute I am fully awake, ready to conquer. As I take a look to my side, I see my beautiful girlfriend still sleeping and slowly awakening, as I look at her, I remember the love I have for her. She is an amazing woman, someone I even look up to, we look up to each other and that is the most powerful thing you can have in a relationship, inspiring each other, I give her a kiss. Newly energized because of this thought I jump out of bed, take a quick shower and then put some clothes on. It is a comfortable but professional fit, it gives me confidence.
- After getting ready, I go to my home office. A beautiful office it is, it has character and makes me feel like the boss of an early 20th century wealthy company, I love it. My daily tasks are all clearly in my head, I know what needs to be done and I start my G work sessions. Focussed, I get a good amount of work hours in, I get all the work I need to do done. This gives me an immense amount of satisfaction because I know that what I am doing is right. My clients are extremely positive about the work I deliver, I am even thinking of starting an agency and scale up even further as I move my way up to the never broke again club.
- After work, I hit the gym. I love this gym, because it is my own gym. I have built a gym in my own house, I start warming up on a heavy bag, after that I launch an attack on my own body. Today is chest day, I have invited my brother to workout with me. Together we work our chest till we cannot move our own arms anymore. Joking around and talking between sets, challenging each other to stupid competitions, I love it. He is an amazing human being, always full of energy and positivity. We look up to each other and inspire each other, it is a beautiful relationship. He stays over for dinner tonight, so we both take a quick shower and greet our family at my doorstep.
- I have invited the whole family for dinner, my brothers, their girlfriends and my parents, they are all here tonight. We all sit at my big table, it is beautifully set up as we start to dine. I can feel that I am the leader of this family, everyone looks up to me, questioning how I did it and looking at me like I am some sort of god, I am the light of their lives. Because of me they do not have to worry about anything at all, they can come up to me with all their problems, I am a problem solver. I am the provider of wealth in this family, because of me they live this kind of lifestyle and providing that for them gives me an immense amount of satisfaction and gratitude. My life will not go unnoticed, the legend of my name will go on for centuries.

- After a wonderful night with my family, we get ourselves ready to go to bed. I plan out my next day, full of conquest and hitting goals. I goof around with my girlfriend, these moments like this, that is what our life is about. I love it, I love her, she loves me. As we lay down in bed, cuddle up and turn off the lights. She feels safe in my arms, that is all that matters to me, she can be vulnerable with me and vice versa. We drift off to sleep in each other's arms, in this amazing house that I have paid for all on my own, gratitude and pride are the last emotions that go through my head before I wander off to sleep.