

The Political Parties Of

r/WeeklyDictator:

With many citizens of the subreddit trying to become The Dictator, political parties can help narrow people's options. This document will serve in explaining the political parties of r/WeeklyDictator. For easier access, visit our website or watch this video.

The Courtinane Party:

Pronunciation: kôrt - ən - əns

Main Values:

1. Authority - They believe The Dictator must be held to the highest authority. They must have as much power as possible.
2. Responsibility - They believe The Dictator is responsible for what happens on the subreddit. If something goes well or bad, The Dictator will be deemed responsible.
3. Respect - They believe the people in power should be shown the utmost respect, with only some exceptions.

4. Protection - In the event that any corruption besides their own begins to rise in the subreddit, they will be the first to suppress it. Their values must be protected and not competed with.

5. Nationalism - Courtinants are extremely nationalistic for the subreddit's nation and its regions. They fly its flags with honor and prioritize the nation over every thing they can.

Party Symbol: A Gorilla

Party Color: Blood Red

Supporters: Courtinants

The Lenican Party:

Pronunciation: len - i - kan

Main Values:

1. Leniency - They believe in second chances, they're not a group of people to judge someone based on a few actions.

2. Tolerance - They will tolerate any subreddit member as long as things don't go too far. They aren't one to be rash.
3. Fun - They believe the people in power should use their position to make the subreddit "Fun." Gaining power, establishing order, and prevailing as a whole is something they barely consider.
4. Acceptance of Members - They believe everyone, even the ones with the craziest ideas, should be welcomed into the subreddit as a member. Ridicule does not exist to them.
5. Resistance to Authority - They believe resistance is essential to the subreddit. Where Courtinants will always support The Dictator with few exceptions, Lenicans will make it a duty to critique them.

Party Symbol: A Jellyfish

Party Color: Purple

Supporters: Lenicans

The Unicratic Party:

Pronunciation: yōon - ē - krad - ik

Main Values:

1.Fluctuation of Power - They believe the dictator's power should be adjusted depending on how much it is needed. In times of peace and order, the role should be entirely symbolic, with the majority of power being shared between other members of the government and the citizens of the subreddit.

2.Peace - They believe the government's power should be used to keep the subreddit peaceful. If the subreddit is not peaceful, then it is reflected poorly upon the dictator.

3.Accountability - They believe every new dictator should be given a chance no matter what. Once the dictator begins to fail, they will be expected to step down and help the party select a new one.

4.Unity - They believe they must always remain united, and never split into groups. Their goal is to find one person to support at a time, as a unit, rather than a bunch of fractured groups.

5. Party Before Self - Regardless of what they think of the individuals in their party, they must show their support. The goal is to promote peace and order, not tear each other down in selfishness.

Party Symbol: A Phoenix

Party Color: Orange

Supporters: Unicrats
