

October 9th, 2018

Burkina Faso language discussion

Ms. Locklin is a proselytize (someone who converts or attempt to convert someone from one religion to another) who came to speak to us about a village in Burkina Faso, a country in Africa, and how she was trying to translate the Bible into their language, Jula. She is doing this by learning their surrounding villages' trade language then using her knowledge to learn Jula. She also told us about life in the villages in Burkina Faso and the differences between there and the US like land claims and hygiene.