

Each emergency is different and entails different circumstances. This is just one example of an emergency that would qualify for funding.

Example:

Two months ago, on November 6th, 2017, I unexpectedly had to get my passport renewed to return to my home country, as my family member passed away and I had to attend the funeral. The fee of the passport renewal itself combined with the fee of taking a passport picture cost me a little over $125. While this amount may not seem like a lot to some people, this set me back significantly financially as I am already struggling to pay my living expenses and my school fees. Because I had to pay $125 for my passport, I am not able to pay for my books for this quarter, and I worry that I might fall behind in my classes.
