Privacy Policy for GrabNote

Last Updated: [20/08/2025]

GrabNote is a Chrome Extension created to help users select text from any webpage and save it in a popup for later use, copy, or export. We respect your privacy and are committed to being transparent about how the extension works.

What We Collect

- Selected Text Only: The extension saves only the text you manually select on a webpage.

- No personal data, browsing history, or background activity is collected.

What We Do Not Collect

- We do not collect your name, email, IP address, location, or any personal or financial information.

- We do not track your browsing activity.

- We do not send or share your selected text with any third party.

Storage

The text you select is stored locally in your browser using Chrome storage. It never leaves your device unless you manually copy or export it.

Permissions

- Storage: To save your selected notes locally in your browser.

- Scripting & ActiveTab: To allow saving selected text from webpages.

- ClipboardWrite: To let you copy your saved notes.

Data Sharing

We do not sell, share, or transfer any data to third parties.

Your Control

You are in full control of the text you save. You can clear it anytime from the extension pop-up.

Changes to This Policy

If we ever update this policy, we will post the new version here.

Contact

For questions, suggestions, or feedback, reach out to the developer:
 Nitin Pandey – https://www.linkedin.com/in/serp-nitin/