

PyCon Program Committee Co-Chair

You've always wanted to get involved in the organization of PyCon US? Here's your chance! We are looking for Program Committee Co-Chairs to join our team.

What's involved?

- A couple hours per week and up to 10 hours per week during review process
- Busiest time is December and January
- Assist in updating submission guidelines on us.pycon.org/2020
- Assist in recruiting program committee members
- Assist in talk submission review process - 4 week process
- Attend virtual meetings with the program committee members
- Create talk schedule
- Send Acceptance/Rejection emails
- Provide feedback to proposers
- Be in attendance at PyCon 2020 and 2021
- Onsite: connect with talk presenters, be sure presenters have arrived and are in their room prior to session beginning.

What are the benefits of volunteering?

- You get to do something awesome for the Python community
- You help make the conference a success
- Volunteering helps to be involved with and learn different aspects of the conference
- Be part of the PyCon staff team, meet and work with organizers, volunteers and speakers

Who should apply?

We are looking for motivated volunteers that are planning on attending PyCon 2020 and 2021 in Pittsburgh, PA. It is helpful to be knowledgeable in many areas of programming and operations in order to review proposals in different areas of expertise.

How to get in touch?

If the opportunity sounds interesting to you and you would like to be part of the Program Committee Co-Chair please fill out this form. Application will be accepted through Wednesday, August 21, 2019. If you have any questions please email us at jackie@python.org