New text proposal:

Welcome to the official home of the WordPress documentation team.

This team is responsible for coordinating all documentation initiatives around WordPress, including the Codex (moving to HelpHub and DevHub), handbooks, parts of developer.wordpress.org, admin help, inline docs, and other general wordsmithing across the WordPress project.

Want to get involved?

There are many ways in which you can help the Docs team. Every small contribution counts and helps! You can report an issue or typo you found in the docs, or even help us write new documentation for parts that are still missing. These are some helpful links to find out more about what we do and how to collaborate:

- Docs Team Handbook: An overview of what we do and how to collaborate (Link to the Handbook landingpage)
- Current projects: A list with everything that we are working on right now
- developer.wordpress.org: The home of the developers documentation
- wordpress.org/support: The home for all end-user documentation

Although we have a fixed schedule of weekly meetings, you can contact the Docs Team at any time through our channel on the slack. (add link to slack)

Weekly Meetings

Join our discussions of documentation issues here on the blog and on Slack.

The documentation team holds weekly office hours on Mondays from 15:00-16:00 UTC in the #docs Slack channel.

Individual teams have their own regular meetings—you can find details of those in the sidebar.

~~This is our handbook home page, to give an overview of what we do and link to all important pages~~

~~Welcome to the Docs team Handbook!~~

~~This page gives you an overview of what we do and point you in the right direction if you want to collaborate!~~

~~Most of what we do ends up in one of these two sites:~~

~~developer.wordpress.org (aka DevHub) — This is where all the documentation aimed to developers are, such as: Code reference, Plugins and Themes development handbooks and more.~~

~~wordpress.org/support (aka HelpHub) — This is where all the documentation aimed to the end-user are, such as Installation instructions, Admin panel reference and more.~~

~~All our discussions happen in this blog and in the #docs slack channel. Feel free to join!~~

~~If you found an issue in the docs, or want to collaborate with something specific, visit our “Current Projects” page for detailed information on how to do it!~~

What about the Codex?

~~The Codex is a community created repository for WordPress documentation. Anyone can edit any of the information on the Codex, and only a WordPress.org user account is required to create a page.~~

~~At this moment in time, the Codex is not actively maintained and pages are being migrated to both HelpHub and DevHub. More information about the migration is here.~~

~~Quick links:~~

- ~~● I found an issue in the docs, how do I report it? (the idea is, after we have all pages for all workflows, to have the ‘report an issue’ button right in the docs page, so people don’t need to look around)~~
- ~~●~~

Current Projects

This page still needs to be worked out. The idea here is to have an exhaustive list of all our current projects, with links to more details (workflows) and the current status

This page could also be used in our regular meetings to follow up what's going on

Once this page is ready we need to add link to it in the Welcome box and in the handbook home page
