Agenda

1. Welcome and Introductions
 - a. Assignment of note-taker
2. Quick review of key decisions from past (Autumn 2022) (WILL AND SOPHIE)
 - a) Michal volunteered to co-chair with Will
 - b) New items for moving into next survey - maybe fighting is now less relevant; we need to think about bringing in newer items particularly on line items, aside from cyberbullying: Maybe we should have a zoom meeting specifically to discuss the items for the next survey. Validation work needs to be done by Spring 2024. Wendy to take on validating on teen dating violence from the last two cycles. We also need to validate bystander OP items from 2022-23
 - c) Frank is still disappointed at the lack of use of the suicide items
3. International Report
 - a. Review of dissemination / mini-report plan from ICC (<https://sites.google.com/hbhc.org/international-report/new-model?authuser=0>)

b. Proposed VIP mini-reports (second wave, November)

c. Outline of at least one mini-report

Bullying and fighting (5 items)- looking at trends since 2014, in line with historical events (COVID-19)- evolution of violence in an online age which we would just add onto the axis. Stratified by gender.

Would not use injury items for mini report.

d. Key authors

4. Trends supplement - call for papers (SOPHIE)

Distribution of kids- how are they clustered and has this changed over time. Specialist vs generalist.

How has bullying among kids who are involved in physical fighting changed. Of the kids who fight, how many of them in different cycles, are involved in different types of violence. How does this distribution change over time. Gendered study. latent profile analysis. Is distribution different across time for boys and girls.

Some young people would be generalist and some specialized.

- 1) Evolution of aggression over time- are people become more specialists over time? Penetration of social media and COVID. But, what is the explanation?
- 2) Quality of friendships/ parental support with bullying over time.
- 3) Frequent victimisation
- 4) Trends for injury

5. Planned publications

- b. Covid-19 manuscript (FRANK, SOPHIE, WILL)
