

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ohio Welcomes The Polygonia Foundation

The Polygonia Foundation, a newly established non-profit organization dedicated to the conservation and study of pollinators, is proud to announce its official launch in Ohio. With a mission to foster environmental stewardship and biodiversity through education and hands-on initiatives, the foundation is poised to become a pivotal force in ecological preservation.

Inaugural Pollinator Gardening Symposium

To kickstart its series of educational events, the Polygonia Foundation will host its Inaugural Pollinator Gardening Symposium on May 18th, 2024, at 10 am in Logan, Ohio. This event promises to bring together enthusiasts, experts, and community members for an enriching experience focused on the importance of creating pollinator-friendly gardens. Attendees will have the opportunity to learn from leading voices in the field, participate in workshops, and engage in discussions that aim to inspire action and awareness.

Mothing Zone Dusk to Dawn

Continuing its commitment to ecological education and engagement, the foundation will also present the Mothing Zone Dusk to Dawn event on July 6th, 2024, at Butterfly Ridge Conservation Center. This unique nocturnal event will offer participants a chance to observe and learn about the vital role moths play in our ecosystems. From dusk until dawn, visitors can immerse themselves in the fascinating world of these nocturnal pollinators and gain insights into their behaviors, habitats, and contributions to environmental health. If you miss this event never fear, we host moth nights every Saturday 9-12, June through October, except the first Saturday of the month.

If you are interested in supporting the mission and having a little fun:

- Moth Night at Little Fish Brewing Company on May 31st
- Enjoy a meal at Casa Nueva in October, 2024: all tips go towards the TPF mission

Together, we can make a difference in protecting our planet's precious pollinators.

For more information about the Polygonia Foundation and its upcoming events or to buy tickets to one of our events, please visit <https://www.polygoniafoundation.org>.

Christopher Kline

Chris@butterfly-ridge.com