

A Cape Discussion

Thank you for reading my blog post on such a special aspect of my childhood, I hope that it got you thinking and you two had something to share. That this the purpose of this Discussion is to get people to share their thoughts on a specific topic. Your input enriches these writings and these contributions are what will give my writing so real interest.

Questions:

Did you have something from your childhood that gave you courage as my cape did for me?

What does it mean to be courageous to you?

Do you have difficulty socializing in this complex system of society? What helps?

What superheroes inspire you? How can you incorporate their messages in your life better?

Discussion:

1st contributor: