

Minimal You- The Zentai Drone Conversion Facility

Minimal You

Made by Zentai-Fan

Synopsis:

Catching the attention of the public after springing up out of nowhere, the Conversion Store had a following of all sorts of individuals, humans and furies alike, who all shared an affinity for Zentai, Spandex, and adjacent kinks and fetishes. Zentai are defined as a one-piece bodysuit that covers the individual from head to toe in a smooth tight spandex-esque material, obscuring all physical features and identifying features.

The store that was supplying these suits that are now made as drones was known as Minimal You. Utilizing a nanobot infused Zentai that allowed for specialized programming and personalization, they gained notoriety after producing a line of people being converted into Zentai Drones. Their ranks grew as more and more people strangely volunteered to undergo the process to become faceless, featureless Zentai Drones.

After a steady growth, the company eventually announced construction of a greater Drone Conversion Convention Center and started franchising stores out all over the country, offering their conversion services to any who desired to become Zentai Drones.

Purpose:

The primary goal of the company is to make Zentai Drones, and their primary targets are fetishists and zentai enthusiasts. This was started due to issues in overpopulation and economical disasters, by specifically attempting to reduce the population and help stabilize and reduce the overall national debt. In addition to those deeply in debt, this program was offered to individuals who were serving extensive sentences (predominantly life sentences) in penitentiary centers and prisons. Those who had particularly egregious sentences were even subjected to the erasure of their memories and personalities after being converted to drones.

Zentai Drones:

Zentai Drones are humans and furies who sacrificed their physical identities and varying amounts of their free will to become Zentai Drones. They typically converted ownership to family and loved ones, though sometimes, Drones surrendered themselves to the Conversion Center and subsidiary stores, while others gave themselves to strangers, and others still offered themselves up as freelance drones.

Drones make excellent servants and living toys, and the nanobot Zentai comes installed with a full-fledged programming which allows Zentai Drones to be a part of the workforce, home companions, and therapeutic tools immediately after conversion. In addition, the programming can allow for individuals to have varying degrees of mental erasure, from having their personalities fully intact, to erasing every aspect of their past life and exist purely as Zentai Drones.

Zentai Drone Physical Appearance and Features:

Zentai Drones all sport featureless bodies and faces, with very subtle hints as to what they were prior to their conversion. For instance, human females can maintain their breast and body curvature, though it's obscured and streamlined to further obscure identity. In addition, males can have visible pectorals and their genitalia can be outfitted to swell and become bulges upon erection, or permanently. For furies, they tend to retain any exterior features that were present, such as wings and tails, and their muzzles retain the shape of the species they started as, in addition to accommodating for any difference in posture, such as quadrupedal creatures or creatures without legs.

Of course, features are altered. In addition to the features mentioned above, Zentai Drones have their hands converted to useless mitts, and their feet become like socks by default, unless specified. Any blemishes are smoothened and removed, as designated prior to conversion. And body weight is significantly reduced to make transportation and care easier.

They come in a variety of colors and patterns, and these are all programmable through our specialized Tablet, which will be detailed later in the document. They are also granted special designations, typically located on the rear, above the pec/breast, or on the forehead. Most of their designations are mostly located on the left pec. Though some former features can be worked out, Zentai drones have most identifying traits obscured beneath the spandex skin. Their original names are etched into the soles of their feet, for the purpose of tracking and verifying identities for legal purposes.

Zentai Drone Types:

There are several types of drones that are offered for conversion at the Minimal You Conversion Center and subsidiary stores:

Worker Drones: The Worker Type Drones are capable of performing a variety of menial labor tasks. This includes things like lifting and transporting objects and cargo, performing simple data entry and similar jobs that require typing, and being granted limited speech to speak with clients and staff. The use of fingers can also be allowed for brief periods through the scheduling system in our specialized Tablet.

Examples of Worker Drone Use

- Security/Protection
- Retail/Food Service
- Construction/Warehouse Work
- Clerks/Secretaries/Accounting
- Statue/Display/Greeters
- Proprietary Drone Collection

Companion Drones: The Companion Type Drones are designed for the pleasure of those who they are assigned to, as well as any guests their Owners are entertaining. Most times, they remain without use of their hands, as they are intended for use as pleasure and treated as toys or therapeutic assistants. Clients have discussed how speaking to drones is helpful despite not having faces. In addition, they can be programmed to have more pleasing features, even allowing them to emit pleasant scents, such as those of fruit or flowers.

Examples of Companion Drone Use

- Housekeeping
- Medical Assistance/Assisted Living
- General/Sexual Companionship

Freelance Drones: Some who undergo conversion decide to maintain a certain level of autonomy rather than being purchased or operating within the Zentai Conversion Stores. These drones can generate their own wealth by offering themselves on a temporary contract to various other individuals and organizations. These drones are far more customizable than baseline units to allow for them to perform the variety of tasks that may be given to them, defaulting to their featureless state once their contract is finished.

Conversion Process and Methods:

In order to be converted to a zentai drone, you must be 18 years or older, and sign the contract and consent papers. There are a variety of processes created for individuals to be converted into Zentai Drones. The underlying commonality between them is the use of the nanobot infusion that covers the skin to Zentai and installs the programming.

Using off-site using portable conversions devices have already been pre-programmed to the converttee's tablet once after purchase. This only works when becoming either a personal/companion or a freelance zentai drone.

This process typically involves the application of calming agents to prevent conversion subjects from panicking, and then the programming of a designated Owner, or designating the Conversion Center if one wishes to become a worker drone for the company. These nanobots also assist in increasing subject longevity indefinitely. For methods of conversion, here are the most common application methods have expanded however and include the following:

- Nanite Masks (Portable):

- The nanite masks can be taken home. Once worn, the mask fuses and smooths out the face, then continues down the body to become a zentai drone depending on the converttee's .

- Nanite Gas Exposure (On-Site/Portable):

- Through this process, subjects are taken to Conversion Chambers and pumped with Nanite infused gas through the Chambers' ventilation ducts.
- This process is similar, but instead of being in a tank, a portable tank and rebreather system or a mask allow for conversion to be performed anywhere.

- Nanite Injection (Portable/On-Site):

- This process involves having a syringe full of nanobots inserted intravenously.
- This can be done on-site, both privately or publicly, or taken home, in a needle or infusion pouch.

- Nanite Ring Station (Prototype):

- The nanite ring station is a prototype, is a ring, held by two beams

If you are unsure, consult a doctor or Minimal You Conversion Center staffer, to learn what process is right for you. Conversion is not fully reversible, and your status as a Zentai Drone will remain with you indefinitely. The process of conversion can affect one mentally, though our calming agents typically assuage most forms of panic attack. Once the conversion is complete, a drone or a normal staff will escort you to the third floor to have certain programs uploaded to your mind, and depending on your role, you will have your own personal tablet.

Once the conversion is complete, you are escorted by a normal staff or drone to the floor where the programmings are installed and memories and personality is archived to the Minimal You's massive server storage in the archives facility. Once those two are completed- You are given the choice to be reformatted or keep your old life.

For conversion kits that are bought, you or someone you know that is going to be a drone, your mindset is not archived, therefore, reformatting is not an option and will be locked until you arrive at the public or private conversion center's programming floor.

Purchasing a Zentai Drone:

Following conversion, Zentai Drones are given a barcode to encode them into the system, and given a new designation, consisting of a letter of their first name and Two or More Digits (such as A-01). This designation is etched in using laser scanners to keep track of the drones. Pricing ranges from $50-$100 for baseline models, with specialty models costing extra. In addition, conversion devices can be purchased as a cheaper alternative.

Drones that have had a full identity wipe can be customized and programmed with new personalities in addition to their color/pattern and their Drone Type.

When a drone is purchased, the new Owner is also sent the Minimal You Tablet which will be included with the zentai drone..

The Minimal You Tablet:

The Minimal You Zentai Drone Control Tablet is given alongside your purchased Zentai Drone. The Tablet measures 9.8 in. x 6.8 in. x 0.3 in. The Main Features of the Tablet include your Drone's Programming Protocol, Speech Settings, and Appearance Adjustment. Some miscellaneous features include mannequin mode, furniture mode, and body shift/morphing mode. And the following features can be accessed only by a personal/companion's owner. But if the drone is a freelancer, they have full access to their options, excluding reformatting options.

If the drone is a Freelance or Worker working for profit, their pay rate is listed in the Drone Account tab. Their personal account is listed as well, and any payments for Freelance Work are given after fulfillment of their contracts. In addition, Owners can allow for their personal drones to receive payment for completing programmed tasks and chores.

If the tablet is damaged or lost, Minimal You can provide a new one at no additional charge by our Drone Collectors.

¹For a full list of modifiable features and controls:

- Autonomy: The drone's level of free will can be adjusted on a slider, as well as their ability to perceive information around them, such as time and date. In this option is also the Reformat Drone option, which will render the drone a blank slate.
- Sensitivity: The sensitivity of the Zentai Drone's skin can be adjusted through here.
- Speech: Speech control can be adjusted through this option, such as how much drones are allowed to speak, when they are allowed to speak for a certain amount of time.
 - This is the only accessible settings companion's owner to configure the drone's speech.
 - Freelance drones do not have access to this option.
- Mannequin Mode:
 - Mannequin mode causes the drone to form joints, making them easily to be dismantled, and restricts their movements.
- Transformation:
 - The tablet allows the drone to only be transformed into a wide range of objects, and not into animals.
 - For freelance drones, they have a set time to be in that form before reverting back to their original drone shape

¹ Writer's Note: I did not fully put other apps, softwares, or programming in this description so you can use your mind to think of what other apps or programs in there in your RPs with others

While Drones do not have access to their control settings, Drones can utilize the tablet to speak within our Global Zentai Drone communication network or access the internet as you would be able to with any tablet.

Default Settings:

By default, drones have all identifying features as suppressed as possible. Hands and feet are smoothened to mitts and socks. Speech is restricted to muffled grunts and muted speech that can only be configured in the drone's speech settings.

Lifespan, Reversion, and Lingering Effects:

As stated previously, Zentai Drones can exist indefinitely long beyond normal human lifespans, though lifespans can be shortened to simulate human lifespans upon request.

As for reversion, the process is dependent on how long the Drone has operated for. Physical and psychological therapy will be required, and some lasting effects can and likely will persist after reversion.

Given the human mind's inability to process the longevity a drone can provide, some long-term memories have to be moved to a remote storage device, typically operated by the Minimal You Zentai Conversion Center. For those who were converted following incarceration, memories will most likely not be kept, or at the very least, heavily fragmented and archived.

Rules and Morality:

Despite being rendered into a subservient Zentai Drone, rules and laws are in effect to prevent illegal use and trafficking of Drones. All Minimal You Zentai Drones are equipped with Emergency Beacons that will transmit a signal to any nearby authorities and Zentai Store staff in case drones believe they are being used unlawfully.

This extends to the use of drones in organized crime. Drones cannot be punished if they are following the programming of another. Use of a drone for illegal activity can result in jail time, the death sentence, or Zentai Drone Conversion with a full personality wipe, of course memories and personality will be archived, but heavily fragmented in different parts of the archive servers.

As for issues of morality, that is left up to your Owner's discretion, as described in Minimal You's terms and services agreement signed prior to conversion. This goes for the process of being reformatted via tablet as both owner and drone must agree together. However, these zentai drones are still people and will be treated as both as a person and an object (to some extent). Abuse, or negative acts on the drone that is either a worker, freelance, or a personal/companion drone will be charged with criminal acts and will be fined, sent to prison, or converted with the chance of reformatting as the mind and memory of you, will be fragmented into different servers in the Drone Archive facility.
