

Dealbreakers

If I were a player, I wouldn't want my time to be wasted reading a multi-page introduction to a campaign I won't even play in, so, as a DM, here is everything I do that plenty of players may or may not find to be a dealbreaker.

• I Use Generative AI (NovelAI specifically)

I use it to create anime-styled visual references for all of my NPCs and sometimes to create visual references for landscapes. I will use the styles of several artists at once so that whatever I post doesn't look generic and displeasing. I don't want to debate over the ethics of using AI. I don't intend to generate any sort of income from this campaign.

Here is a link to an album full of the references I tend to create: <https://imgchest.com/p/agyvjpgwgy8>

And here is an NSFW link to a pornographic album: <https://imgchest.com/p/m9yxd52bm4q>

• I Almost Exclusively Prefer Anime

While I don't particularly dislike Western art, I also don't care for it and will likely ignore any art that isn't at least somewhat anime-inspired. I'm mostly saying this to warn you, ahead of time, that if you use a western-style visual reference for your character, I am highly likely to ignore your application. This extends outside of visuals as well, however. Most of my experience with fantasy media comes from anime. I've read several Western novels of course (Orconomics and The Wandering Inn being my favorites), but for every fantasy novel I've read, I've watched ten times as much anime. I'm not consciously going to turn the campaign into a cringe-fest, but if a character stands out to you as something that would come out of an anime, that may be why. I'm self-aware enough, I'd like to believe, that this will be a non-issue.

• I Love Erotic Roleplay

In the 5+ years that I've been a DM, I have not run a single, non-lewd campaign. If you're not an erotic player, this campaign is a terrible fit for you. I'm willing to "fade to black" every so often, but not every single time. If you don't have any experience writing any sort of smut at all, this is, again, probably not the best fit for you! Sorry! I'm not a "gooner" per se, but this is my hobby and this is what I like.

On top of that, I can be rather kinky, so if you're completely vanilla, there is a small chance this still may not be a decent fit for you. Deeper in the documents, you'll find a list of kinks that are likely or unlikely to appear in the campaign.

• I Only Roleplay Through Text

This game will be text-only. I work about 35+ hours per week. This is going to increase to 60-75+ hours as soon as I can land a second form of employment, so my pace is rather slow as well. I'll try to post swiftly enough that the game isn't at a stand-still, and, partially to counteract this, I like to split players off semi-often! It helps with my ADHD. I won't force this, however, and this is hardly a requirement to participate in the campaign. Simply a forewarning.

• I Don't Care For Politics

Pleeeeeease do not say anything to the effect of "orcs are actually black people" or "those futanari should be going by they/them". I very likely won't even ask for your gender (or sex) beyond your pronouns, much less for your political affiliation. FWIW, I am almost completely apolitical and I intentionally remain as such. I am running this to turn my brain off and send some goblins your way to kill, and you're reading this, hopefully, because you want to kill (and/or lay with) those goblins.

• I Will Include Several "Risque" Kinks

If the idea of intercourse without consent isn't one you're comfortable with, this is your queue to leave. This is meant to be a darker campaign and, atop that, it is meant to be an erotic campaign. This will happen in the world around you. It may happen to you if you express a level of comfort with that - but it won't be absent from the campaign and I don't want to make anyone uncomfortable (nor do I want to feel like a villain for including what I've explicitly advertised here). Struggle-snuggle will be present in this campaign.

“You Can Thrive Within The Bastion!”

“We Can Thrive Within The Bastion!”

“Humanity Will Thrive Within The Bastion!”

This broadcast plays every day at 8AM on the dot within the Bastion. PAPER says humanity hasn't been reduced to a crumb of what it once was – that blight and brutality, sickness and savagery, rot and ruination haven't long dethroned man as the apex of the world. Such words ring hollow for those feasted upon by forces fantastical and lovecraftian – forces that effortlessly scale the walls to terrorize those PAPER has sacrificed to the outermost crusts of the Bastion. Those who brave these terrors and find value in what PAPER has expressed – if there ever was any value to be found – are soon betrayed by neighbors desperate to secure safety for themselves in the hierarchy enabled by the very same PAPER. A social scoring system that assigns you a value, as a mortal, based on how much you've contributed to mankind as a whole. A quaint ideal on paper and a gateway to all the worst taboo humanity is willing to display in reality. If fiction made reality doesn't undo man, then man will undo itself.

Even in this landscape where cruelty is as abundant as oxygen, mortalkind has not lost its spirit wholly. You'll find them out there: worn faces with a desire to stand against the tired and trite barbarism; naive faces who have not yet been ground down by the harshness of the world. Outside of the Bastion, an exploration team will uncover a secret deep within the ruins: an entombed deity, the same sort that'd have them decried as a “cult” by PAPER and marked for excision. But, perhaps, forfeiting their lives will be worth it for the chance of restoring what was once whole and allowing mortalkind to flourish once more.

Synopsis

Heya! Let me clear any confusion from the concept above! This is the plot for an online, erotic, long-term tabletop game using GURPS (Generic Universal Role-Playing System)! This world takes very strong inspiration from Library of Ruina, Darkest Dungeon 2, SCP Community Lore, and LonaRPG. In short, you're either a native or an outsider. Outsiders are people who've been transported from our modern world into this alternate timeline and have been handed no other instruction other than "prevent the extinction of mankind" in order to return to their home world. Monsters roam the land, so outsiders tend to focus heavily on eradicating the monsters that have wiped out 95% of humanity – and rightfully so. Natives are people born within the world itself. Natives know that humanity will swallow itself whole before monsters ever have the chance. The hierarchical system put in place by PAPER makes the worst taboos of humanity come to light and that, itself, will cause a lot more destruction than any entity could hope for.

Whether you're a native or outsider will decide which side of the world you're more focused on, at least initially – the external or the internal.

Your goal is to change the world.

You will encounter an entombed deity very, very soon into your play – call it the prologue, even – and this deity has the power to change reality. Or would if they had any strength, the sort that comes from worship. Deities need worshippers. The people of this world have long abandoned the idea of a benevolent deity ever existing, so she has none bar all of you.

Skeptical as you might be, you decide to assist her in receiving more power. You must become people worth listening to — and that requires ascension to the tip of this wretched hierarchy.

DM Information

I'm Pretzels! I live in the United States (EST / GMT-5)! I've been doing ERP for about a half-decade at this point! I'd like to believe I've become a slightly decent writer in all this time. I am a slow poster. You should know this ahead of time. My usual posting pace will either be once a day or once every other day.

If you want some samples of my writing and the sorts of posts that I make as a DM, here are some examples from my most recent (and still ongoing) campaign: SFW RP Examples

If you'd like some examples of my NSFW writing, here are some as well: NSFW RP Examples

I make absolutely no claims of being the best writer there ever was, so if you have any feedback for my writing, feel free to express them in the form that'll come up later on in this document.

I have ADHD, so I tend to split players up since it's much, much easier to keep an interest in multiple parties than it is to keep an interest in only one. So if you're the type of player who likes paving your own route and only reporting back to the whole every so often, you've got a special place in my heart~. But even if you aren't, you're more than welcome! I try to cater to everyone!

You can stop reading past this sentence if you only wanted the most important bits.

If you were to ask me the sort of DM I am, I'd like to say that I'm a relaxed DM. Generally, I don't harp very heavily on the rules (especially not GURPS as there are dozens of books with lots of minutiae). I'm a lot more likely to say "yes" to something than to say "no", and especially in this setting – far more morally bleak than the usual high-fantasy Forgotten Realms or what have you – I'm likely going to end up saying "yes" to a lot of debauched scenarios and whatnot. I have a decent stomach, so I don't mind if you head into this campaign and you decide you want to play someone very morally black – as long as you're not disturbing the other players too much and so long as you're actively following the goal of the campaign.

I love ERP. In the multiple years I've been DMing, I have never, not even once, run a non-erotic campaign. I'm re-iterating this right now because I know, for a fact, there are a lot of people who will read that and decide it's the reddest of red flags possible. If the dealbreakers at the very start were any indication, I don't want to waste anyone's time, so if you see a red flag from me typing that, you're free to make your own decisions. At the same time, I know there are people who will read that and decide "this might be my type of DM" and if that's the case – howdy. I'm not the sort that likes DMing people outside of the campaign, so you don't have to worry about me sliding into your private messages and begging you for a smidgeon of puss-puss or anything deranged. I don't even care for your IRL gender and likely won't ask beyond your pronouns (which I will forewarn that I'm terrible at remembering; not intentional).

I love posting GIFs in chat. I don't watch a lot of anime but I love anime aesthetic and whatnot, so you'll see it everywhere from me. I take inspiration from anime and vidya for my NPCs, but never copy-paste. As an example, here's a character I recently introduced in another campaign of mine: <https://files.catbox.moe/ql6x4d.png>. She is very directly inspired by an existing anime character. Can you guess who? It's Yuuka Kazami from Touhou. If you can't see the resemblance, couldn't recognize her, or if you don't even know who that is, that's intentional. Over here at Pretzels Inc., we try not to copy our motivations wholesale. That said, I'm willing to share my inspiration for a character when asked!

If you want my personal kinklist, here it is: <https://www.f-list.net/c/unsaltedpretzels>

I really have to emphasize that this is my personal kinklist, and that, as a DM, I am willing to play out a lot more kinks than the ones on this list.

“What Am I Looking For?”

I'm looking for two players! These players, ideally, are comfortable with my posting pace, are literate (meaning able to type 750-1000 characters on average or 150-200 words), and are willing to participate in the lewdness, dark as it will be. Familiarity with GURPS isn't required, but I'd highly prefer you had at least a little bit of experience with TTRPGs in general since GURPS is a bit complicated and explaining TTRPGs from scratch isn't something I'm prepared to do (sorry). You must be capable of making at least one post every other day! This is the bare minimum! If we're all online at the same time, we'll probably post a lot faster, but regardless, one post per two days is what I expect, otherwise I'd have to consider removing you from the campaign. It'd also be swell if you shared at least some kinks with me! Speaking of which-

World Information

Guaranteed: Monsters (i.e. Feral / Lovecraftian), Graphic Descriptions Of Violence, Non-Sexualized Gore, Anthro Girls (i.e. Anthro Furry), Nonconsensual Sex<sup>[8]</sup>
Highly Likely: Monster Girls (i.e. Monster Girl Encyclopedia), Femboys<sup>[1]</sup>, Futanari<sup>[2]</sup>, Drugs<sup>[3]</sup>, Sexual Magic, Corruption, Fantasy Race-Play<sup>[4]</sup>
Somewhat Likely: Slave Play, Pet Play, Rough Sex, BDSM, Bestiality, Bad Endings<sup>[5]</sup>
Slightly Likely: Somnophilia, Degradation / Humiliation, Exhibitionism, Risk Of Pregnancy, Watersports,
Slightly Unlikely: Overweight / Underweight Characters, Vore, Romance, Masculine (Human) Males<sup>[6]</sup>
Somewhat Unlikely: Unrealistic Proportions
Highly Unlikely: Real-Life / Photorealistic References<sup>[7]</sup>, "Hyper Anatomy", Scatology, Urinology, Gore (Excessive), Snuff (Sexualized Death)

[1] Femboys refers to "effeminate boys". For examples, see Astolfo from Fate/Apocrypha, Felix from Re:Zero, and Bridget from Guilty Gear.

[2] Futanari refers to women who have male genitalia. They may have this in place of their own or in addition to their own. They may or may not be trans.

[3] "Drugs" refers to anything from aphrodisiacs and medicinal herbs to actual harmful substances, though the latter is considerably rarer.

[4] "Fantasy Race-Play" refers to racism between one or more fantasy races. This is common in almost every fantasy world. For instance, elves and dwarves typically have a racial rivalry between each other no matter the media, and, at least in pornographic fiction, orcs and elves are shown to have less-than-pleasant relations.

[5] "Bad Endings" refers to a sexual "defeat" of sorts. As an example, an elven priestess is defeated by bandits and ends up having to "service" them before they're willing to set her free. This would be referred to as a "bad ending" despite not actually being an ending and, depending on the person, not actually being bad. "Bad endings" come part and parcel with erotic campaigns, so be prepared for them!

[6] I am not attracted to masculine human males. Know that if you apply to this campaign with one, you're very likely to be passed over in favor of someone else. That said, they'll definitely make an appearance here and there in the world.

[7] Because I am a fan of anime, I would prefer if whatever reference you chose was also anime. Know that if you apply to this campaign with a non-anime reference, you're very likely to be passed over in favor of someone else.

[8] Very likely, the nonconsensual sex will be the dispassionate, graphic sort, but that also depends on who I gather for the campaign. If everyone who wants to play tells me that too much is too much, I will 100% listen and tone it down. We're here to have fun!

This is the likelihood of certain kinks or acts appearing in the world. Please note that simply because something doesn't appear here doesn't mean that it won't appear in the campaign. If you have a concern over something that isn't listed here, then you're encouraged to fill out your own kink-list and send it in, especially if you have any kinks that would be considered taboo that you may want to include! I am very inclusive when it comes to erotic matters! It is nearly impossible to turn me off, save for what I've already listed in "Highly Unlikely" and "Somewhat Unlikely".

Noteworthy Mentions

• This campaign has a rather linear plot. If you're looking for a more sandbox-type of experience where you can explore and do whatever you'd like, this likely isn't the world for that as there is literal danger around every corner. I remind you that humanity has been mostly defeated.

• Please try to win at least a little! I understand it can be fun to be "defeated" by the monsters and I find it roleplaying it out to be fun too! That said, I will try, as a DM, to warn you when the situation you're in won't result in fun-times when you're defeated.

• To show that you've read this document in-depth, I'm making you a plate of cookies. Let me know which ingredient you'd love to have added! I'll dice them whole and put them in the batter so you can experience the complete texture and taste! Limes, Anchovies, Pineapples, or Ghost Peppers!

• Please don't lie about having a fetish or a kink! If we end up in an erotic scene and it turns out to be a limit for you, I'll probably boot you from the RP for lying to me from day one! Just be honest! You don't have to like everything!

Application

<https://forms.gle/wPKgHBywpS3GysCJ8>

Above is the Google Form to apply to this campaign! Thank you for reading the entire document (if you did; if you didn't, I'll know at some point while reading your application response)! I hope to bring in at least a couple of players!