

Gina Boswell '89 M.B.A.

Gina Boswell serves as chief executive officer of Bath & Body Works Inc., having joined the business and its board of directors in December 2022.

Prior to joining Bath & Body Works, Gina was a senior executive with Unilever where she led multi-billion-dollar businesses in North America and the UK, first in personal care and then across the portfolio including beauty, home care, and food and beverage.

Gina joined Unilever through the acquisition of Alberto Culver, where she served as president, global brands, overseeing marketing, R&D, consumer insights and packaging for numerous hair and skin care brands including TRESemmé. Earlier in her career, Gina served as chief operating officer of Avon North America and held senior positions at Ford Motor Company and Estee Lauder Companies.

Gina has served on the boards of ManpowerGroup, Wolverine Worldwide, ACCO Brands and Applebee's; and in recognition of her board service, received the 2017 Directors to Watch award from Directors & Boards, and the 2018 Most Influential Corporate Directors award from Women Inc. She is also a former president of the Yale University Council and a Henry Crown Fellow of the Aspen Institute.

Gina has been recognized as a "Woman to Watch" by Advertising Age, "Marketer of the Year" and "50 Most Influential People in Beauty" by Women's Wear Daily, and "Top 50 2015 Brand Innovator" and "Achiever of the Year" by Cosmetic Executive Women. In 2022, Gina was awarded the Yale Medal, the highest alumni award honoring outstanding individual service to the university.