When you citation such as Mutualism is a pervasive biological phenomenon that can be understood as a close and mutually beneficial relationship between two organisms that are interdependent and interacting (Sarah, 1992). The symbiosis theory can be applied to the relationship between modern logistics and import and export trade, and the relationship between the two symbiotic economies is derived. The business flow determines the logistics and logistics supports the business flow. The two should form a symbiotic model and a complementary and shared economy (Dilip, 2013). 3. Research Method and Design < Time New Roman, 12 pt, Bold>

The quantitative analysis method can conduct detailed and accurate analysis through accurate statistical data, so as to obtain support from independent research data. This study takes Qingdao's freight volume, port throughput and total import value from 2011 to 2021 as an example to reflect the import and export situation of Qingdao. And on the basis of the above data indicators analysis, the trend of its estimates, the establishment of models to accurately reflect the impact of their relationship. It is a very intuitive and accurate analysis method. < Time New Roman, 12 pt, Normal text>
