

Subject: A tailored proposition to empower your community

Hey Jake,

Recently, I came across your website, and I love how you guys are helping with your tailored workout plans according to your client's situations, And building their mindset that they feel disciplined and committed to their progress as you did in the summer strengthen camp.

I know you want to expand your audience and love sharing your work with the world, but facing difficulties in this matter.

As a strategic marketing specialist, I can help you to enhance your reach and have a closer relationship with your clients.

Here, I have made up a Simple Plan for you (free of charge). That includes a welcome sequence for your newsletter.

Using the approach I forged, you will be providing more value to your clients and they will feel much more relatable to you.

Does it hold any significance in your growth?

Looking forward to hearing from you,
