Building Endurance

To keep me from being too elated, a thorn was given me in the flesh, a messenger of Satan to torment me, to keep me from being too elated. Three times I appealed to the Lord about this, that it would leave me, but he said to me, "My grace is sufficient for you, for power is made perfect in weakness." – 2 Corinthians 12:7-9

In Paul's Second Letter to the Corinthians, he spills a lot of ink defending his credentials as an Apostle and Overseer of their church. In a recent session of the Hopeful Sunday School Class, we noticed how his defense of his Apostleship ultimately rests in the suffering he endured for the sake of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He refers to it sometimes as sharing in Christ's own suffering.

Here, in the passage quoted above, Paul gets to the reason why his suffering is such an important proof of his credentials and credibility as an Apostle and Overseer: It has built his Christian character.

In these verses, we see how suffering a "thorn in the flesh" lead to humility. Paul received visions, was taken to heaven "in the spirit", and heard the voice of the spirit reveal truths to him. He was a learned man of sound breeding. He had been a Pharisee and leader among the Jewish religious establishment before his conversion.

Here is a man who had reason to boast!

This thorn in the flesh, whatever it was, knocked him down several pegs. It must have been a disability which made him dependent on others for certain things. This malady most assuredly made him aware of his dependence on God and God's power to help him overcome.

"Power is made perfect in weakness."

Suffering through this weakness lead to spiritual growth for him.

Paul writes in Romans 5:3-5, "We also boast in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, and hope does not disappoint us, because God's love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit that has been given to us."

Suffering builds us up! This is the great truth Paul taught to the Corinthians, using himself as the prime example!

Suffering this "thorn in the flesh" changed him. Once he was an arrogant, vindictive man. He persecuted the Church of Christ. He looked down on others. He believed that he was better than anyone else. He met Christ and everything changed. He became a believer, an evangelist, and a defender of the faith he tried to destroy.

The thorn in the flesh brought him down low. The lessons he learned as he coped with that malady built his character. He had to lean on God and learn that grace is sufficient. He had to lean on others and learned how to live within a caring Christian Community.

Remember, when Paul saw Christ on the Road to Damascus and was converted, he was blinded and led by the hand, probably by his servants, to the house of Ananias to receive his sight? There in the house of Ananias, he was forgiven and welcomed into the body of believers. Later, believers patiently taught him the Word of Christ, preparing him for the ministry that was ahead.

Suffering brought him down. Going through the suffering, Paul rose, a believer, a leader, and an Apostle of Christ Jesus.

Suffering builds us up.

Every person who has ever trained to play a sport knows this. Every person who has successfully completed a course of physical therapy has experienced it. Our bodies become stronger through exercise: Running, cycling, weights, bands, whatever. Our bodies are strengthened through suffering!

The same is true about our spiritual lives: We are made perfect through our suffering. It is through suffering that we learn that the grace of God is sufficient for our need. It is through suffering that we learn how to rest in the care of our Christian sisters and brothers.

Spiritual growth comes most often to those who have walked through the dark valley of suffering. Over the years, I have come to know many people who seem to have a deep spiritual center. Almost every time I learn their personal stories, I hear stories about a mental or physical malady they had to overcome, or a family tragedy they had to process, or a crisis they had to face. Almost always, times of great trial and suffering lead to the steadfast faith and spiritual centeredness that was evident in their lives.

"Power is made perfect in weakness."

Character was built. Centeredness of Spirit was achieved. Deep connection with God and the people of God took place. And a deepening commitment to ministry in His name also took place. This is the fruit of suffering.

Through suffering we change and grow. God can use our suffering to form and reform us until at last we perfectly bear the image and likeness of Christ, to God's eternal glory.

THANK YOU for your support of our successful Spring Bloom Craft Show on April 2, 2022, the first one since 2019.
The craft shows are an excellent community outreach that bring in many people from a widespread area. What an opportunity to witness Christ's love! The bills are not all in as of this time, so we have no financial report.

Using TFC or Pavilion?

It is VERY important that anyone and everyone who plans to use TFC for church OR individual uses MUST reserve it in advance. Do not just assume that it will be available! Book ASAP in writing.

Reservations must be in writing for everyone --- individuals AND church groups AND any other groups. Church group needing paper goods? Simple! Just make those needs known in advance & reimburse TFC Building Fund, or buy your own supplies.
See Dave Evelhoch or put a note in his church mailbox or call him at 717-422-8907, or call the church secretary for more information.

8 FIGHTS WORTH PICKING WITH YOUR KIDS:

Parenting is hard. Parents have to choose their battles. This list is immensely helpful & challenging.
The Reading Fight: Make your kids read. Because reading is tied to everything from cognitive development to the ability to focus. Make your kids read now.
The Outside Fight: Make your kids go outside. The natural world teaches us things. Plus, outside there's sunshine, fresh air, and exercise waiting for them. Most importantly, nature is full of things in short supply in our world: Discovery, wonder, peace, joy.
The Work Fight: Make your kids work. I'm saddened by how many parents don't require their kids to lift a finger at home. There are priceless life principles you can only learn with a mop in your hand. Let sweat be their teacher.
The Meal Fight: Make your kids eat as a family. Our lives are a blur of incessant activity. Meals together are a physical pause to recover a truth so easily sacrificed at the altar of busyness. Nothing's more important than family.
The Boredom Fight: Make your kids live with boredom. Don't show a DVD on each car ride. Kids need unscheduled time. And, odd as it sounds, boredom is a skill. It's hard as a parent to deal with the assault of boredom complaints. But if you give in and fill up their time with external stimuli, you'll raise a ...ivity addict. Make them learn how to

The "Me First" F... ...ake your kids go last. Not every time for everything. But enough to remember that the world doesn't revolve around them. Take the smallest piece. Give up the remote. Do someone else's chores. Get their least favorite choice. They won't like it, but they need it.
The Awkward Conversation Fight: Make your kids have uncomfortable conversations with you. Sex, dating, body image, values...Your kids will roll their eyes and resist. You will stumble and stutter. They need and want your perspective, lessons learned, and wisdom.
The Limitation Fight: Learning to live within limits is a valuable life skill. In fact, many adult problems arise from an inability to accept them. Screen time limits, dietary limits, activity limits, and schedule limits are all good.

As a parent, you have to pick your battles.

They're not easy, but they're worth the fight.
Stay focused on God as you parent your child.

Proverbs 31:10-30

A wife of noble character who can find? She is worth far more than rubies. Her husband has full confidence in her and lacks nothing of value. She brings him good, not harm, all the days of her life. She selects wool and flax and works with eager hands. She is like the merchant ships, bringing her food from afar. She gets up while it is still night; she provides food for her family and portions for her female servants. She considers a field and buys it; out of her earnings she plants a vineyard. She sets about her work vigorously; her arms are strong for her tasks. She sees that her trading is profitable, and her lamp does not go out at night. In her hand she holds the distaff and grasps the spindle with her fingers. She opens her arms to the poor and extends her hands to the needy. When it snows, she has no fear for her household; for all of them are clothed in scarlet. She makes coverings for her bed; she is clothed in fine linen and purple. Her husband is respected at the city gate, where he takes his seat among the elders of the land. She makes linen garments and sells them, and supplies the merchants with sashes. She is clothed with strength and dignity; she can laugh at the days to come. She speaks with wisdom, and faithful instruction is on her tongue. She watches over the affairs of her household and does not eat the bread of idleness. Her children arise and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her: Many women do noble things, but you surpass them all. Charm is deceptive, and beauty is fleeting; but a woman who fears the LORD is to be praised. Honor her for all that her hands have done, and let her works bring her praise at the city gate.

MEMORIAL DAY – MONDAY, MAY 30, 2022

Remember those who served before.
Remember those who are no more.
Remember those who serve today.
Remember them all on Memorial Day.

Emily Toma

The LORD is close to the brokenhearted and saves those who are crushed in spirit. Psalm 34:18

RECIPE FOR AN AMAZING WOMAN

Start with faith & honesty.
Mix in pure humility.
Add strength of character that rises above the stress of life's surprises.
Fold in personality.
Toss with generosity.
Pour in love from a heart that's true.
Yield: one terrific, amazing you!

1 Corinthians 13 for Mothers

If I keep my house immaculately clean and am envied by all for my interior decorating, but do not show love in my family – I am just another housewife.
If I'm always producing lovely things - sewing, art - if I always look attractive, and speak intelligently, but am not loving to my family – I am nothing.
If I'm busy in community affairs, teach Sunday school, and drive in the carpool, but fail to give adequate love to my family – I gain nothing.
Love changes diapers, cleans up messes, and ties shoes – over and over again.
Love is kind, though tired and frazzled.
Love doesn't envy another woman – one whose children are "spaced" better or in school so she has time to pursue her own interests.
Love doesn't try to impress others with my abilities or knowledge as a mother.
Love doesn't scream at the kids.
Love doesn't feel cheated because I didn't get to do what I wanted to do today – sew, read, soak in a hot tub.
Love doesn't lose my temper easily.

<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<<

Our Family Rules

Share. Be kind. Love one another. Say please and thank you. Keep your promises. Be silly. Do your best. Say I'm sorry. Smile. Be patient. Don't whine. Hug one another often. Pray & worship as a family.

Love doesn't assume that my children are being naughty just because their noise level is irritating.
Love doesn't rejoice when other people's children misbehave and make mine look good.
Love is genuinely happy when others are honored by their children.
