

2014 COUNCIL IN BARTLESVILLE

The League of Women Voters of Bartlesville hosted this year's LWVOK Council held May 17. It was, in the words of one attendee, "The best ever!"

The lunch speaker, Kara Joy McKee of the Oklahoma Policy Institute (OKPolicy.org), provided excellent information on state policies and politics.

Kara Joy McKee

She reminded League attendees that four minimum things are needed from Oklahoma citizens in order to bring about change:

- Know what is going on
- Talk about what's going on to those in power

- Hold them accountable
- Interest two friends in the first three

Karen Melcher gave an excellent summary of our state League's work on updating our program positions. (See more here)

Deborah Langle, LWVOK nominating committee chair, asked all attendees to begin thinking about who to nominate for next year's state League board election. (See more here)

The board extends special thanks to Pat Netzer, LWV Bartlesville president, Sharon Hurst, LWV Bartlesville for registration administration, and huge thanks to Margaret Hooper, LWV Bartlesville, who made all the arrangements for some of the best food ever served at Council.
