Guest Expert: Jonathan So (@MrSoClassroom)

Jonathan is a Proud Peel Teacher. He is currently teaching Grade 6 at Ray Lawson Public School. He has also taught grades 2 to 5 and is one of the lead instructional technology and math coaches at his school. He is a proud parent of 3 young children Izzy, Micah and Levi. He is always looking to promote creativity and exploration in his family, students, and colleagues. Jonathan completed his Masters of Education looking at how his Questions impacted his students' learning of part-whole relationships in Fractions. His interests lie in math, assessment and technology (not in any particular order), but he is also passionate about inquiry and the endless possibilities it has for his students. Jonathan is also a Google Certified Teacher (Level 2), keynote presenter, and workshopper.
