Hello and welcome to the approaching schools Podcast. I'm Cerys Keneally and I use my ace professional backgrounds in activities coaching and education to help 1000s of children's activity providers to grow their businesses. This podcast will cover topics all about the activity of marketing to schools and nurseries to help you earn a more reliable and consistent income in your business, while having a bigger impact on children's lives. I can't wait to jump in and delve deeper into the wonderful world of working with schools and nurseries with you. Click subscribe now and join me on this journey.
