

Dr. Eya Jrad is a Researcher and an Assistant Professor of Security Studies, and she has also taught courses on Human Rights Law, Special Crimes and Comparative Systems. Eya holds a PhD in International Relations Law from the Faculty of Legal, Political and Social Sciences of the University of Carthage. Jrad has over 10 years of experience specializing in Border Security, P/CVE, Institutional Governance and Reform, Social and State Resilience and the Rule of Law. She has gained practical experience working with national and international actors in Tunisia and the broader MENA region (Libya, Morocco, Egypt, Yemen, Kuwait..)