

unscripted

Find the courage and confidence to ask for what you want, without feeling salesy.

Most of us were never taught how to ask for what we wanted. We just learned to feel bad about it.

Maybe it's the moment someone says "it's too expensive" and you freeze. Or the conversation that's going great until you have to ask for the business, and suddenly you're rambling. Or the invite to a discovery call that you rewrite five times because you don't want to sound pushy.

It's not that you don't want to ask. It's that you don't have the language, the skill set, or the confidence to do it in a way that feels like you.

And that gap, between wanting to ask and knowing how, is where so many good conversations, and good opportunities, quietly die.

Here's the truth: everybody wants the courage to ask for more of what they want, whether that's closing the sale, asking for support, or asking for opportunities in their own life.

You already have the desire. What's missing is the confidence and the skill to back it up.

That's what Unscripted is for.

What it is

A 3-month program designed to help you become a confident, fluid communicator in your sales conversations. You'll learn magic phrases and the psychology behind them, so you know what to say, when to say it, and how to make it count, all completely unscripted.

Over three months, you'll have space to learn, practice, and apply these skills in your real conversations, with live training, role play, coaching, and community support along the way.

This isn't just skill-building. It starts with your relationship with yourself, the mindset behind asking, and builds out to the language you'll use with prospects. You'll learn it, practice it, and apply it in your real conversations, with community and coaching behind you the whole way.

Because once you have the courage to ask, everything else gets easier.
