Around half a year ago, a Norwegian actress was sentenced to three years in prison for making the true statement that men cannot be lesbians (it is noteworthy that the actress in question is a lesbian herself).

The current definition of the word lesbian, according to Oxford, is:

A woman who is sexually and/or romantically attracted exclusively to other women; a gay woman.

Nowhere in that definition is anything about males mentioned.

So basically an innocent person is being held for such a petty “crime”.

I would not under normal circumstances support resisting/evading arrest, but if I were ever in this situation (which I would be if I lived in California, New York, or anywhere in Europe), this would be the time to do it.
