

"The Lady in My Life"

Date range assessed by the fact that Bruce Swedien says the song was recorded "at Westlake", and, "In August 1982, Michael, Quincy, Bruce Swedien, the returning songwriter Rod Temperton and the rest of the team gathered at Westlake's Studio A to begin recording the follow up to Off the Wall... Temperton's demos were the first the team worked on.", and "the final days [of recording were] in late October" (Mike Smallcombe, "Making Michael")

"The Lady in My Life" (From the "Thriller" album):

"The Lady in My Life (Full Version)" (From "The Songs of Rod Temperton" album):

<https://youtu.be/0BBG37bdWDI>

"The Lady in My Life" (Extended Version) (From studio engineer Brad Sundberg's "Vimeo" (March 22, 2020)):

<https://vimeo.com/399714566> (archived)