

Biographical Statement – Tramaine Warren, MSN, RN, MEDSURG-BC

My journey in nursing began nearly 20 years ago as a volunteer, and I've grown through every stage of the profession—from volunteer and CNA to LVN and now RN. Today, I serve as a Nursing Professional Development Specialist and Charge Nurse at Continuing Care Hospital, part of Baylor Scott & White Health, where I lead clinical education, onboarding, and collaborative team empowerment.

Originally from Louisiana, I now proudly call Texas home. I'm a husband and father of four—three daughters and a newborn son. Inspired by my mother, who was also a nurse, I've dedicated my career to uplifting others through transformational leadership, mentorship, and service. As a proud Temple College graduate and lifetime member of the alumni association, I value the impact of local institutions in shaping strong nursing professionals.

“Success is best when it's shared!” I'm passionate about expanding District 7 membership, strengthening community outreach, and ensuring that all nurses—at every level—feel empowered and represented. I'm truly honored to be considered for the role of a board member and look forward to contributing meaningfully to the work ahead.
