

Carolyn Weisz, PhD, teaches Psychology at the University of Puget Sound and is on the Leadership Team of the Race & Pedagogy Institute. Her research addresses social perception, racism, and homelessness. Weisz serves on the board of the Fair Housing Center of Washington, volunteered for over 15 years with the Diversion Program of the Pierce County Juvenile Court, and was a consultant for Tacoma's Project Peace. She raised two children who graduated from Tacoma Public Schools and has been part of a book group for 25+ years.