Twitizen Kane: The future of publishing. Is a tubby millionaire running papers like a dictator journalism? #TwitizenKane

Twitizen Kane: Charles Foster Kane (@bounder) takes over The Enquirer. #TwitizenKane

Twitizen Kane: A first. We'll be live tweeting our editorial meeting... #TwitizenKane

Carter: I'm very pleased to welcome Mr Kane (@probablydrunk)—our new publisher at The Enquirer. #TwitizenKane

Carter: Oops. I'm very pleased to welcome Mr Kane (@bounder)—our new publisher at The Enquirer. #TwitizenKane

Kane: @gavinwray Thank you Mr Carter, this is Mr Leyland (@probablydrunk). #TwitizenKane

Kane: @gavinwray and this is Mr Bernstein (@craigfots). #TwitizenKane

Carter: I didn't know your plans and so I was unable to make any preparations. #TwitizenKane

Kane: I don't do plans, I haven't got any. Except to get out a newspaper. #TwitizenKane

Bernstein: And he's going to live right here as long as it takes. #TwitizenKane

Carter: But we're a morning newspaper, Mr. Kane. After all, we're practically closed twelve hours a day. #TwitizenKane

Kane: And that's one of the things that's got to change. We're an online operation now the news is 24 hours. #TwitizenKane

Bernstein: The Kane Daily is out <http://paper.li/kane> #TwitizenKane

Leyland: @craigfots not like that. #TwitizenKane

Kane: The Daily Mail has Holly Willoughby in her pants. Mr Carter, why hasn't the Enquirer got that?

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/home/moslive/article-2114854/Holly-Willoughby-I-used-strip-undies-ti-me--I-believe-say-again.html> #TwitizenKane

Carter: Because we're running a newspaper, Mr. Kane, not a scandal sheet. #TwitizenKane

Kane: The Daily Mail has shots of her in her pants. #TwitizenKane

Carter: It's not news, Mr Kane, the story isn't big enough. #TwitizenKane

Kane: If the pants are small enough the story is big enough. #TwitizenKane

Kane: That's the kind of thing we are going to be interested in from now on, Mr. Carter. #TwitizenKane

Kane: I've just made a shocking discovery. The "Enquirer" is without an iPad app. Have two developed at once! #TwitizenKane

Bernstein: I ordered 6 this morning, got a discount. #TwitizenKane

Kane: What makes people think a paper is something rigid, inflexible, that people are supposed to read for free online? #TwitizenKane

Carter: I've been a free online man my whole life and I don't intend to change. #TwitizenKane

Kane: Your resignation is accepted, Mr Carter. #TwitizenKane

Kane: Mr Bernstein, Mr Leyland. Erect the paywalls. #TwitizenKane

Leyland: We'll be on the app store soon, Charlie - another ten minutes. #TwitizenKane

Leyland: It's been a tough day. #TwitizenKane

Kane: A wasted day. #TwitizenKane

Bernstein: You just made the paper over four times today, Mr. Kane. #TwitizenKane

Kane: I've changed the delivery mechanism a little, Mr Berstein. It's not enough. #TwitizenKane

Leyland: What are you going to do Charlie? #TwitizenKane

Kane: My declaration of principles. #TwitizenKane

Bernstein: You don't wanta make any promises, Mr. Kane, you don't wanta keep. #TwitizenKane

Kane: I'll provide the people with a multiplatform news delivery system that will tell all the news honestly. #TwitizenKane

Kane: They'll get the news - the true news - quickly and simply and entertainingly. With celebrity pants. #TwitizenKane

Bernstein: The Daily Mail, what a newspaper. #TwitizenKane

Kane: It's a good idea for a newspaper. #TwitizenKane

Leyland: They've got the greatest staff in the World... Jan Moir... #TwitizenKane

Kane: And we'll get them all. #TwitizenKane

Leyland: They've started a Twitter storm about you Charlie. #TwitizenKane

Kane: You buy a bag of homophobic peanuts online and you have a Twitter storm about you, Jed. #TwitizenKane
