

To The Cross
Written By: Carolyn Wu

Sweat Blood

Flowing down your face

As you pray

Knees bowed

In humble submission

Asking for grace

Tears rolled down your eyes

You weren't caught by surprise

You knew the day ahead

You bore our grief and said,

"Father I desire that they would be with me where I am

Be with me where I am

Father I desire to be the sacrificial Lamb

The Sacrificial Lamb

The great I am

Come here

My child, I hear the father say

Come here

My son, I'm pleased when you obey

I'm right here

I'll never leave

Security

A blanket of comfort

That's what I'll be

Through the testing

Through the trial

I'll be yours

I'll help you smile

I'll make sure you forgive

And I'll weep with you

I'm right here my beloved son

I'm right here, you're there (4x)

With everyone

I'll wait

I'll wait for you my child

I'll be here with arms wide open

I'll wait

See you coming back to me

I'll wait

His response as he arose

Was Father, "I give this cup to you."

Not my will, but yours be done."

I hear the father say, "I give you strength my son"

I am with you in the fight

Right by your side

I'll draw near

Hear your prayer every time

I'll set you secure

In my loving arms

I will wait for you

There He was

Soldiers came

Bloodthirsty men

Running only after gain

Kissed betrayed

Taken away

His fate, the grave

And He stood as they blew

A cattails whip

Into His back

With every bruise

The father knew

The father knew

The father knew

And He said

Here am I

I am still with you

You can endure, I believe

Son pursue

Just continue in your way

I will be right here to stay

So the father

He is mourning

He is weeping

But it's only for one night

He's grieving in the sorrow

But he remains a flight

Soaring like eagles within his heart

Soaring like eagles within his heart

There was a trial

And the voice was heard

Crucify Him

Though seemingly absurd

All the people

Wanted Him dead

To the cross he would be led

All the people

Wanted Him dead

To the cross he would be led

He would be led

Like a sheep to the slaughter

He would be led

Like a sheep to the slaughter

He would be led

He would be led

And he knew that he could endure to the end

Because he thought of you and me, his friends

And He stayed on the cross

Bearing the loss of pain, sin and shame

And he is thinking of you and me

And he is reminded he has the key

He is holding in his hand the victory

All power, All glory, All wealth, All wisdom

All strength belongs to you

Father I can carry the cross

For the ones that I so love

I'll be their shepherd

I will be their guide

Throughout the ages,

They will be called mine

Lavish your love Father

Come lavish your love

Lavish you love our Father

Come lavish your love.

Here I am says to the father

Hanging here bleeding

Every breath is from my father

I need grace to stand, to stand

So I can breath

I want to breath

Give me grace to receive

These nails

To my hands and to my feet

Father give me a drink

God they gave me what I don't want

They put a robe on me

They cast lots for my garments

Father forgive, father forgive they know not what they do

And the ground began to quake

And the rocks began to shake

And the blood for the forehead of the lamb

Flowed down onto dry land

And the shaking quake of the rock

Made a hole, the blood flowed into

The lambs sacrifice flowed down, the blood

To the altar of the covenant of God

The blood flowed down onto the horns

And was laid bare before

For you and for me, we are redeemed

Washed white and clean.
