

Lysander71: (subject: Lol Spartanbiker) You guys are better than collecting that guy but it has been gg all the way. Good luck.

Aeon Amadi: Be careful, might hurt my feelings sending messages like that.

Lysander71: Lol ok. I thought he was good. I don't have any probs with you mate, none at all. Egypt is the focal point of all this.

Aeon Amadi: So, we done with this? Lot of ISK flying around for some internet trash talk.

Lysander71: Lets squad up and chat.

Aeon Amadi: Lol, no. Last time we had a chat you conned us into waiting a week to attack us xD >>> (second message) Aeon Amadi: Also I might hurt someone's feelings.

Lysander71: I wasnt planning any attack. We had no plans until Egypt slagged off at us on the forums. Since you guys werent going to do anything we decided to act. We are pretty riled.
>>> (second message response) I got big shoulders

Aeon Amadi: Dont know how it works over there but we dont infringe on a man's freedom of speech. While I dont agree with what he says, I defend his right to say it.

Lysander71: Voltaire is often misquoted.

Aeon Amadi: Were I quoting anyone.

Lysander71: Well somebody has to do something. Cause we are willing to fight to defend honour just as much as you wish to fight to defend freedom of speech. It seems like a impass to me.

Aeon Amadi: Here's the inconvenient truth: If you're going to use that as your excuse to defend your honor you'd have to attack everyone who sent a trash talk message after a pub match. I don't view that as a reason, I view that as a false justification.
There is no impass, the fact is that you attacked first because of alphanumeric/verbal abuse and apparently your shoulders weren't big enough to handle that - but you want to talk to me and have something done after I already gave you what you wanted.
Further more, I said if you needed anything to contact me, you didn't. You can't cry foul and want something done when you haven't announced what the problem was because originally it was the Demented Mindz district, and the last time I talked with you you said everything was savvy. That being said, thanks for your time and let's continue throwing bullets at one another =D

Lysander71: (subject: Shit Happens) I ain't going to debate who is more right. I have team of people who thought that the things were getting too personal by Egypt. A vote was taken after you and I talked. The vote was to fight Anonymous pure and simple. I meant when I said I have no problems with you personally. We both have people in our corp who want to continue the fight. You guys are strong in your peak times and we are in our peak times, it makes things very difficult. Let's chat and see what happens.

Aeon Amadi: Any worth your words have with me is now null and I'm truly sorry to say that - I can't put faith in talks after that action was taken for obvious reasons. You'll be happy to know we no longer operate on a voting system and that our new CEO makes the decisions based on what his advisors (of which I am one) inform him. Happy hunting.