

Creature Generation Worksheet

Version 1.0 Free for use by all parties. Not for Re-Sale. Please link back to source or give credit to the myself (Deborah Miskell). Adapting this work to future use is permitted, please link back to original source and note version changes, as well as credit the people who updated this worksheet.

Name: _____ Alias: _____

Notes:

How did this creature get their name? _____

How did this creature acquire their alias? _____

Is there special renown or infamy attached to their name? _____

Describe: _____

Appearance:

Age – Apparent: _____ Age – Actual: _____

Height: _____ Weight: _____

Hair: _____ Skin color: _____

Fur: _____ Scale color/texture: _____

Gender presentation: _____ Eye color: _____

Scars/Deformities/Unique Qualities: _____

Body Type: _____ Other: _____

Personality:

Likes: _____

Dislikes: _____

Fears/Phobias: _____

Obsessions: _____

Habits: _____

Flaws: _____

Sexual Orientation: _____

Defining Qualities:

Life Span: _____
Moral Orientation: _____
Intelligence: _____
Social Behavior: _____
Attitude towards other species: _____
Predator or Prey : _____
Strengths: _____
Flaws: _____

Role in the Story

Answer the following questions:

- 1.
2. What does the creature do in the story?
- 3.
4. What set the creature on the path to their arrival in the story?
- 5.
6. What are the advantages the creature in this environment?
- 7.
8. What are the disadvantages of the creature in this environment?
- 9.
10. What is the creatures native habitat? How does it respond to being removed from it?
- 11.
12. What biological necessities must be met for the creature to survive? What happens when they are removed?
- 13.
14. What is the creature's role in the food chain? If predator, what is its preferred prey? If prey, what is its primary predators?
- 15.
16. How territorial is the creature? How does this influence the protagonists, antagonists, and supporting characters?

Miscellaneous Details

This is where you insert things like if the creature is kept as a pet and by whom. This is where you may note details that you hadn't covered earlier, like if they have odd feet or something. It is also a prime location for where to place a sketch of your creature, if you are so inclined.