

MUSIC: The Curtain Rises by Trace Callahan.

CLAUDIA: Hello everyone! Claudia here again with one last update for our crowdfunding campaign.

Wait, wait, wait, don't skip, I promise there's some fun stuff in here!!

Still got you? Okay, here's the deal -

We have just short of one week left to crowdfund for season two, and at the time of recording, we're sitting at around $1400 raised. Obviously, I'd love it if we could reach our total goal, but if we can get to even $3200, aka the minimum to pay our cast, I've already promised that we'll publicly post a cast and crew D&D session for everyone to enjoy. That's right, you'll get hours of us running around in a homebrew world being the chaotic, fantasy-loving theatre nerds we are.

And hey - don't forget about the rest of the goodies you can get from donating!

We have Moon and Sun tarot cards featuring original art of Leona and Fel!

We have a 30-page TTRPG hack based in the world of Starfall, loaded with bonus info on our setting and characters!

We have handwritten letters from Fennel and recipe cards, including one for something called "Delightful Salad."

And this is all on top of our stickers and Valentines and bloopers and, yes, even the ability to make our characters say real-life swears this season, I promise, it's all very worth checking out.

And hey, if you're not really a stuff-wanting type of person (which, I totally get, because stuff takes up so much space these days) - then you can always donate without picking a reward.

Or if you're not able to donate at all (which, I also get, because money is so expensive these days) - you can still help out by spreading the word this week! Just pick a social media post with a link to our campaign and pass it around - there's no shortage of them right now.

Okay, that's it, that's the spiel. All that's left is getting through the rest of this week -

And leaving y'all with one more reminder of the amazing cast and crew we're raising these funds for.

DEANNA: I for one welcome our pincered overlords.

SAM (singing, as Fel): It's rainin' swords! Hallelujah, it's rainin' swords! Hallelujah~
[weep-laughs]

ROOK: Maybe the real treasure was the soup we made along the way!

TOBY (weeping, as Colden): It's just a leg! It's not even anywhere near the rest of me!
[weeps] I've got a spare!

COLE (as Dalyn): Okay, this conversation is getting weird and sad and bringing down what are supposed to be...rockin' vibes.

TOBY (as Fel): Oh, no, Leona! Someone has pushed me off a roof!

SAM (as Fel): Leona! Did I ever tell you how I got my na-[screams abruptly, falling]

CLAUDIA: And we were holding a fire cage between us.

ISHANI: Yeah.

CLAUDIA: And it represents our love.

MAXIME: It's true.

ISHANI: What if we kissed and the kiss was arson?

SAWYER: The love I have for all these strange little people...I just think they're neat!

EMMA: Hula-dancing Raybar is not what this episode needs.

MAXIME: [sighs] Cloudy...you do so much with the love rhombus. I can't keep up!

ZAIRE: At this point, the love rhombus is 3D, so you have to look at it from all sides to get every aspect of it.

ALGIE: Actors exist near props table and there is no more props table.

SAWYER: It's gone.

TOBY: Actors exist and things are broken.

EMILY (as Hestren): Lots of work to do! And the show - must go on! Whoooo!
[giggles]

ISHANI: Yeah, in the line of like, Starfall merch I would most want to wear, the big shirt that says "Poke, Poke, Poke" - top of the list.

COLE: Sam, every time you speak normally, it's like - that's not - that's not Fel!

SAM: [eating bread] Om nom nom nom nom.

CLAUDIA: Yeah, this is what it's like basically every time, we get done with the read and then just dissolve into theatre and vocal madness.

SAWYER: You know what? Every day - every day's a holiday with the Starfall cast!

COLE: Right, I have to go.

SAWYER: Please, I just wanna be a himbo. They seem like they have it figured out, y'know? No think, head empty.

COLE: We cannot talk about crab right now, we have things to do.

MAXIME: And if that's not Starfall, what is?

CLAUDIA: See you this summer!