

The Writing Center at MSU presents:

Writers Across the Curriculum: A Speaker Series

Dr. Mya Poe Lecture

Date: November 17, 2022

Time: 1:00-2:00 PM, EST

Location: Zoom Webinar

The event will be recorded and made accessible via the Writing Center at MSU's YouTube page after the talk. All registrants will be emailed a link when the video becomes available.

Lecture Title:

“The Changing Landscape of Scientific Communication Today”

Lecture Description:

“While scientific communication practices regularly change due to advances in technology, advances in research findings, and funding pressures, the last several years have witnessed a number of exciting, critical changes in scientific publishing practices. In this presentation, we will talk about some of those changes, including “pandemic publishing,” the influence of the Black Lives Matter movement, and the questioning of monolingual English standards in scientific publishing. Such changes raise important questions for how we teach scientific communication—for example, how we teach students about peer review, how we name populations in scientific research, and how we teach scientific editing.”

To Register:

To register for this event, use this registration form.

Please note: We email all registrants the Zoom link the morning of the event. Often, this link gets filtered into folks' "Junk" or "Spam" folders. Please check all your folders for the link; we don't want anyone to miss out!

Contact:

If you have questions about this event, please contact Dr. Karen Moroski-Rigney at moroskik@msu.edu.