

"Son Heung-min will win the EPL trophy!" 62 years already. Is it possible?

The British media "90min" highlighted the performance, saying, "Tottenham is the best start since the 1960/61 season when it won the English Premier League (EPL)." Tottenham have had a good start this season. A positive atmosphere is being detected as he cruises under Enze Postecoglou. Tottenham was fascinated by their experience of winning the championship and their aggressive use of soccer, and accelerated their appointment of Postecoglou.

Tottenham beat Luton Town 1-0 in the eighth round of the EPL 2023/24 season. Yves Bissouma was outnumbered, but secured three points by keeping Mickey van der Ben's first goal. Tottenham will be able to keep its top position in the EPL as Arsenal overpowered Manchester City.

Son Heung-min is also contributing to Tottenham's rise, including No. 1 in the EPL. Son Heung-min is playing as a front-line striker this season and is showing great performance. Son Heung-min equalized through a sensational chip shot after the goalkeeper came out and confirmed that there was space after a pass play against Manor Solomon in the 16th minute of the first half when Tottenham allowed a run in the fourth round of the English Premier League (EPL) against Burnley.

Later, Son Heung-min's show began. After receiving Solomon's pass in the 19th minute of the second half, Son Heung-min flooded in and made his team's fourth goal and his second of the season through direct shooting. Son Heung-min did not stop scoring. In the 22nd minute of the second half, he dug into the back of Burnley's defense and scored again after receiving a prisoner's pass. It was the moment when he achieved his first hat trick of the season.

Son Heung-min achieved his fourth career hat trick against Burnley this season after Southampton (2020/21), Aston Villa (2021/22), and Leicester City (2022/23). Son also shone in the North London derby against Arsenal. He shook Arsenal's net in the second minute of the first half, but he swallowed the disappointment as the offside was declared. Later, in the 22nd minute of the first half, he handed over a stunning pass from the right side and Johnson showed a threatening shot, but the record of offensive points was destroyed as the goalkeeper was blocked.

However, Son Heung-min was extraordinary. In the 42nd minute of the first half, James Medicine scored through a sensational touch that slightly changed the direction of giving up a pass after a mixed situation at the gate. He scored his fourth EPL goal this season. The scoring didn't stop. In the 10th minute of the second half, Medicine went on a counterattack after breaking through after taking Jorginho's ball under pressure. He gave up a pass, but Son Heung-min scored in a 1:1 situation with the goalkeeper. It was the moment when his fifth EPL goal was scored.

Son scored seven goals in the North London derby against Arsenal. That's more than Robin van Persie, Gareth Bale and Thierry Henry with five points. Son Heung-min also scored 150 goals in his Tottenham uniform through multiple goals against Arsenal. He then scored against Liverpool, achieving his 200th career goal in Europe.

Son Heung-min penetrated Liverpool's net with a simple touch after Hishalisson, who received James Medicine's pass through the ground, received a cross from the left side in the 35th minute of the first half. Son Heung-min was nominated for the EPL Player of the Month award through his performance of scoring six goals in four matches in September.

Son Heung-min won Player of the Month in September 2016, April 2017, and October 2020. Aim for the fourth time in his career. Thierry Henry, Frank Lampard, Alan Shearer, Dennis Berkamp, and Paul Scholes are among the four players who have won the Player of the Month in EPL history. Son Heung-min is likely to win the EPL official Player of the Month. The award information was reportedly leaked.

EPL will collaborate with game company EA Sports to select the player of the month, and information on the player award for September was leaked through the game before the announcement was made. According to the leaked information, Son Heung-min is the most likely player to win the EPL September player award.

It has been suggested that Son Heung-min's performance is the reason why Tottenham can win this season. Global soccer media "Goal Dotcom" mentioned seven reasons why Tottenham can win the EPL this season. Son Heung-min was mentioned, saying, "I played on the left side at the beginning of the season, but I took the opportunity to play as a front-line striker for Tottenham."

"Son Heung-min achieved a brilliant hat trick against Burnley. He showed finishing skills that match intelligent movements. He then scored in the North London derby against Arsenal and scored his sixth goal of the season against Liverpool. Tottenham's manager also admitted that the front-line striker is now suitable.

Son Heung-min's performance gave off an atmosphere that he can expect golden boots, but it is not surprising to say that he is aiming for the second EPL top scorer. You can score from any angle with the excellent skill of both feet. Tottenham do not miss Kane. It's all thanks to Son Heung-min." 슬롯머신사이트

In addition to Son Heung-min's role as a front-line striker, coach Enje Postecoglou, James Medicine, Mickey Van Der Ben, Destiny Udozi, Yves Bissouma, and Tottenham's physical arrangement due to not playing in the Champions League were mentioned as the reason for winning the EPL this season.

However, there are not only positive opinions about Tottenham's chances of winning. Vacari Sanya, a former Arsenal player, said on the betting site Paddy Power, "The competition to win the EPL will be between Arsenal and Manchester City. Tottenham will collapse as usual, he predicted.

"I'm not saying I'm a fan of Arsenal. Tottenham have been inconsistent all season," he added. Along with this, "Tottenham has no other player who can lead the team or play an important role in winning the championship other than Son Heung-min." They struggle with long-term competition. "You can compete for the Champions League berth, but it's not a championship," he criticized.

On the 11th, soccer content producer 'score90' released the probability of winning the 2023/24 EPL using information from the betting site 'Bet 365'. Tottenham has a 7% chance of winning. This is an increase of 3% from 4% on the 29th. It seems that the first place in the EPL has been applied. Tottenham have not won the EPL since the last 1960/61 season. It is similar to the trend at the time, so fans are expecting something they may not know.

As Tottenham's possibility of winning is mentioned, attention is focusing on whether Son Heung-min will be able to win a trophy that is not in his career. Son Heung-min had a chance to win at Tottenham. The most regrettable thing was the 2018/19 UEFA Champions League (UCL). They met Liverpool in the final, but they managed to overcome their disappointment as they lost 0–2.

Tottenham have made a tremendous start under the new manager system. Since the 1960/61 season, when he won the championship, the best atmosphere has been detected, and attention is being paid to whether he can win the trophy. "Son Heungmin wins the EPL trophy!" Can I hear such a touching comment?