Bluecoats Celebrate Victory in Houston, TX, and Look Ahead to DCI Southwestern Championship

IN ITS THIRD WEEK OF A NATIONAL TOUR, THE CORPS CONTINUES ITS SUCCESSFUL STREAK AS IT HEADS INTO THE FIRST REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP EVENT IN SAN ANTONIO, TX.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

20 July 2024 – HOUSTON, TX – The Bluecoats Drum & Bugle Corps is making waves on its national tour, recently securing a remarkable first-place finish in Houston, TX. The corps, currently in the midst of its third week of its 8,000-mile tour, demonstrated its excellence once again with a standout performance at DCI Houston on July 18. The corps showed a strong showing at the event, posting the following results:

- July 19 – DCI Houston – First Place, 92.100

With this victory, the corps maintains its strong performance as they near the end of its Texas tour. Its next major event is the DCI Southwestern Championship in San Antonio, TX, on July 20. This championship will be the final highlight of its Texas tour and a key chance for the corps to compete against top contenders.

The San Antonio championship is an important milestone for the corps as they prepare for the DCI World Championships in Indianapolis. The Texas tour has been key in sharpening its performance and setting its ranking for the upcoming championship. After San Antonio, the Bluecoats will travel to Murfreesboro, TN for The Masters of the Summer Music Games on July 26. This event offers another important chance for the corps to refine its performance as they prepare for the DCI World Championships.
