

Chatterton's Lines on Walpole : dated 1769

Walpole! I thought not I should ever see

Control Page

Back to Chatterton Project's Walpole page

Original Manuscripts in Chatterton's Handwriting :

- Bristol Library B20930 : Waiting copy

First Printing

- Dix, p.102 : View online

First Printing of Photograph of the Original :

- Ingram's, The True Chatterton, p.172, 1910 : View ovr scroll

Notes :

Taylor queries the handwriting in B20930. He considers that it might be the handwriting of someone who studied Chatterton's writing closely. He is concerned because it first appeared in Dix. He suggests comparing Ingram's photograph facsimile against other authentic Chatterton manuscripts. Well now, that is one of the reasons the Chatterton manuscript project exists. He also adds that Meyerstein does not question the manuscript.

Panel 1 : Bristol Library B20930

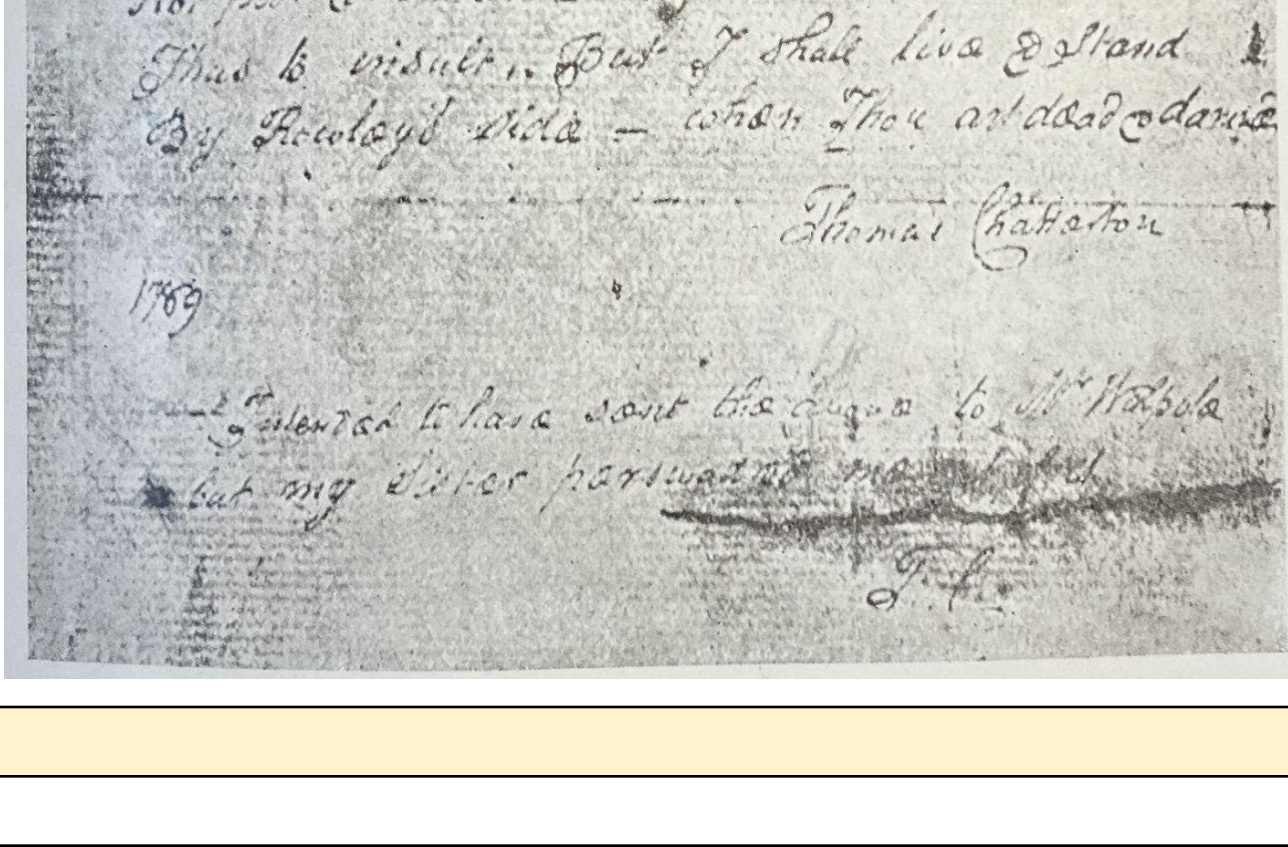

Awaiting the original

Panel 2 : Dix, p.102

View online : View

Panel 3 : Chatterton's lines on Walpole from Ingram's The True Chatterton

(This is from the book; do note that the image in the book is of very poor quality)

End : Back to Chatterton Project's Walpole page