GENERAL

I draw pretty much anything that I'm comfortable with skill wise. Mostly characters. I'm not comfortable with hyper realistic stuff and detailed backgrounds. I still can attempt it if you really want, but can't guarantee the best result.

More information is better than less. Any reference / description / ideas that you have will be more than helpful. If I'm not sure about any specific detail I usually go with my guts and later check in with you.

The prices depend on complexity / time spent / amount of commissions currently pending.

PAYMENT

I accept payment via boosty or Hipolink (there is an option to pay with paypal just through boosty / hipo)

Half the payment after accepting the commission. Another half after first sketches

Price can be increased for extra characters, descriptions without references and complicated design or composition.

WORKFLOW

To make an order you can send me a message through Discord (adamdoesstuff) or Reddit (Reddit chat is bugged and unreliable, so I prefer discord) with a mark 'commission inquiry'. You can describe to me a brief idea of future artwork. If everything goes well, I will take the order.

- After order acceptance we discuss the idea. Then you can send me descriptions and references of your character. I'm happy with either all upfront or a minimum 50% deposit, the previews will just be heavily watermarked and low resolution until full payment

- I make a rough sketch (or several variations) and send it to you. At this stage, you can express any wishes and make edits to the composition.
- After accepting the sketch, you will send me the rest of the payment. When payment is received, I continue to work on the order.
- I will send you a WIP process before it finishes so you can carry out the final revisions and make sure all the necessary details are in place.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

If you have a deadline, please let me know from the very start. I usually work quickly, but depending on the circumstances the time may vary, you will be warned about this.

If you missed things or changed your mind, you pay an extra price for every change. In the later stages of work, only small corrections are accepted.

COPYRIGHT

For non - commercial purposes, as far as I'm concerned, after I'm done with the image and you send me the full payment, the image is yours and you can do whatever you want with it (excluding usage for ML based training models). I will, however, retain the rights to post images on my socials, in my portfolio and other such usages I deem fit.

If you are not comfortable with me sharing it or want to hire me with different copyright options, do let me know.

Credit is not necessary, but highly appreciated (:
