

Darkest of Nights

During the darkest of nights,
they stand side by side.

An adult and a teen,
their hearts open wide.

The adult offers guidance,
without any judgment or control.

Creating a safe space,
where the teen's voice can unfold.

Listening attentively,
encouraging growth.

Together they navigate,
through life's intricate maze.

Facing challenges,
through each passing phase.

The adult provides wisdom,
sharing their own experiences.

While the teen explores,
learning from their choices.

Trust is the foundation,
built by actions and words.

A safe haven,
where they can tell each other anything.

The adult offers support,
a steady hand to hold.

Empowering the teen,
to be more brave and make the best decisions.

In this relationship,
acceptance is found.

Unconditional love,
never to be bound.

A supportive relationship,
a nurturing space.

Where both can grow,
and find their own place.

They inspire and uplift each other,
fostering growth and self-esteem.

A bond that flourishes,
like a beautiful dream.

In this connection,

Elizabeth Ying

they learn from one another.

Discovering strength,
resilience, and how to recover.

Through laughter and tears,
they build a strong tie.

A supportive relationship,
that will never die.

So let us cherish these bonds,
oh, how precious and rare.

Between an adult and a teen,
a duo beyond compare.

For in this relationship,
they find comfort and light,

Guiding each other,
through the darkest of nights.
