So, I have this girl I know coming down to stay with me for a few days in three weeks time. I certainly know is keen for some action 🙄 and am hoping to con her into wearing some latex medical gloves for me as she already knows about my kink and seems pretty fine with it 😏🧤. I have realized I have a little problem though, she has tiny hands & my favourite gloves atm are really hard to get in the XS size. So i did some searching around on google to try and find a seller and came across only one option: a company based two states away from me.

The website is a tad outdated and difficult to navigate but anyhow it appeared that i needed to create a user account add a phone number etc before my purchase. I went ahead did that and placed the order, right through to the point where i realized that there was no online payment. At the same time I also noticed this company is mainly for bulk business orders for Dentists etc. I'd had a very long day, got hardly any sleep the night before so was like " 🤪 Fuck this I'm going to bed". I cancelled the order though the site, headed toward the bedroom and next minute the phone rings.

I answered to hear a young girls voice saying shes from the company I had attempted to place the order and was wondering if I was still interested (Now I could have said no right there and then but was thinking "I want these Gloves Dammit!". So the conversation went as follows:

ME: "Yes I spose so"

HER: "Oh great!, there is just a few problems with the order though. You haven't supplied a business name, so what was your business?"

ME: "Umm... No Business just for personal use"

HER: "Oh.....um ok, so just for yourself you said?"

ME: ".....Yep"

HER: "Ok thats fine, I'm pretty sure I can do that for you"

HER: "Another other problem is you can't pay online with us yet so we'll need to do this over the phone"

ME: "Yes i tried to do that online with no luck"

HER: "Sorry, we are still working on upgrading our site, are you happy to pay over the phone?"

ME: "Yea sure" (Gave details)

HER: "The other thing I have noticed is you have only ordered one box of these gloves, the delivery on these is going to cost you" (The Delivery was at least 4x the price of the gloves)

HER: "Are you sure you still want to order through us?"

ME: "Yes thats fine" 🙄

HER: "Ok then, well maybe you could consider buying more than one box to make it worth your while"

ME: "Alright make it 2 boxes then"

HER: "Ok..... 2 little boxes of these gloves"

ME: 🙄 "So thats all Sorted then?"

HER: "Yes, do you mind me asking how you came to find out about us?"

ME: "Google, I had trouble getting Extra Small size gloves of this brand on ebay, you seemed to be the only store in the country that has them"(I Should have just stopped at"Google")

HER: "Oh... Fair enough then..."

She continued to talk for a while about the different gloves they had there and that some are better than others, asked told me about latex allergy's to make sure I had the correct type etc.

All i could think was "Please just be done with this call" 🙄 HAHA! Anyway it ended, I thanked her for the customer service and hung up. She was really nice I have to say, but I could surly tell that she was quite suspicious considering how much I was paying to have a 2 boxes of really cheap gloves mailed to me for personal use lol. I couldn't help but think of the look on her face after she had hung up 🙄

Anyway the good news is I'll be getting the damn gloves! After that I should bloody hope so! 😊

For those who may be interested these the Gloves please see the pictures

Info about them:

- Very thin latex
- They are reasonably low quality (funny they are called "Qualatex")
- Different smell, sort of a vanilla starchy type smell, may be a little off putting for some people (if you run them under water u will get the latex rubber smell back)
- Very soft

The soft thin texture of them is what makes them so good for me, look great on a girl with nails

😊 They arn't really too special but I find it really hard to get latex disposable gloves these days that arn't too thick and high quality without going down the sterile surgical glove road. So these do it for me 😊 . Hope you enjoyed my little bit of embarrassment haha!

My girlfriend's friend staying over... in white gloves

So a couple weeks ago, my girlfriend's friend, Mary, was staying in from out of town. She was staying with us, and to my surprise, she was gorgeous (also an Asian girl; my girlfriend is Japanese for those who don't know). I joked around with my girlfriend that we should get Mary to wear gloves a lot, which my girl shrugged off with good humor.

One problem (well, not necessarily a problem for me) was that it started getting ridiculously cold, and she hadn't brought any cold-weather gear. None of my girlfriend's gloves would fit her (her hands were bigger) but I had an old pair of black cotton gloves with iphone touch-fingertips that shrunk in the laundry. So I let her borrow those, which she was very thankful for. She wore them everytime she went out, we even held hands a couple times (don't worry my girlfriend was fine with it). 🙄

My girlfriend wears moisture gloves to bed, practically every night. She has two pairs, one of which is kinda old, so she doesn't wear them much.

Image

I asked her to ask Mary to wear them while we were watching TV, but she refused. I practically begged her, but she wasn't having it. So I let it go and sat there inbetween them. I had actually brought both pairs of gloves and some hand-cream up earlier, so I got an idea.

I began to give my girl a hand-massage. I ended up using the cream to rub her hands really well. Mary took note of it, saying it looked soothing. After I finished giving my girlfriend a hand massage, I put her usual moisture gloves on her, which she accepted. I asked Mary if she wanted a hand massage, and she eagerly said yes. So I used the moisture cream and rubbed her hands really well, which she really liked. Afterwards, I took the older pair of moisture gloves and placed them on her hands. They were really tight on her, but she liked them, commenting that they were smooth and felt soothing.

So both of the girls ended up keeping the gloves on the entire night, watching TV. Mary at some point checked her emails on her computer with the white gloves on. Needless to say, it was turning me on to no end.

As it was time for bed, Mary went to sleep, with her gloves on. My girlfriend and I went to bed. She thought I was being a little crazy about the gloves, but admitted that Mary liked them. We had sex, as silently as possible, and got some shut-eye.

The next morning, my girlfriend went to work, while I got up later greeting Mary in the morning. She had kept the gloves on. Seeing her stretch out of bed with her white covered hands was amazing. But she took them off and proceeded to have some breakfast. Mary commented that she really liked the gloves. She was very self-conscious about her hands and felt like this would help a lot. So I told her I'd buy her a pair just for her. I also walked her to the train station, giving her the warm cotton gloves. Holding her hand with the gloves on felt nice.

Later, my girlfriend and I stopped by a shop, and I picked up some moisture gloves for Mary. I kinda forgot about them, but she reminded Mary about them, as a gift, later. Mary was very happy to have a pair for herself. Before bed, she put some moisture cream on, and I slipped the gloves on her. They were perfect for her hands, so tight and cute. The next morning, she admitted that she planned to wear the gloves every night when she got back home.

I wish I could say this ended up in a gloved threesome, but it didn't... wishful thinking. I even joked about this to my girlfriend, who playfully scolded me, and even to Mary, who laughed it off. Anyway, she left for the airport, taking the gloves with her, and I told her she could keep the winter cotton gloves as well.

That was definitely a fun week. Needless to say, my girlfriend and I fucked like animals once she was gone... my girl wearing opear-length satin gloves!

Rubber gloves, gas masks and more

For years I've wanted to get my Mrs to wear rubber gloves and gas mask to finger me. A few days ago it got closer than ever !!!

We have discussed that I want her to finger me to which she has agreed to try.

The other night I had her wearing her kinky basque, stockings, thigh high leather boots, long red rubber gloves and red pvc apron.

I wore my elbow length emperor rubber gloves.

I tied her to the bed on top of our black pvc sheet, I fingered her untill she squirted all over me and the bed. Next I started to finger her arse, but before I did I put on my gas mask. It's the 1st time I've worn it in front of her but I was hoping she would also try hers on if I did. Unfortunately she decided it would be a step too far for her this time but did say she probably would next time.

I fingered her arse and then, her pussy again. She squirted again this time on the visor of my gas mask 🤩👍 .

Next she asked me to release her hands. I did and she proceeded to grab my cock and balls with her sexy rubber gloves, wanking me nearly to the point of cumming. She teased my arsehole but didn't enter it. The feeling of her gloves around my hole was amazing! Hopefully next time she will put on the gas mask and finger me fully 🤩

Afterwards I asked if me wearing my gas mask bothered her to which she replied no, but she did ask why I wanted her to wear one? I told her that there was 3 reasons.

1 because I find the thought of her and me in gas masks, rubber gloves etc sexy!

2 because I'm bothered about having an accident while she's fingering me and don't want her to smell it if I do.

3 if I do have an accident while she's fingering me I don't want to stop!!!

She didn't seem bother by any of this so hopefully with a bit of Dutch courage next time we may go all the way.

My sorrowful life: my lastest girl friend abandonned me

by secret_angels » Sat Jun 06, 2015 5:40 pm

I'm sad. Very sad.

Finally, i was abandonned again. I came back from Germany to my Country. My girlfriend was here, waited for me. It was a long time that I wasn't with her. I brought some pairs of gloves for her: a spandex pair, an HM black leather pair, and one pair was long leather operagloves of Manufacture Pittards. I was sure that I would have the first experience about gloved sex with girlfriend of my life.

It was, and is always, difficult to tell somebody about my fetish. I did not tell her clearly about it. Everytime we had sex, I really really really wanted to ask her wearing gloves. I tried but she (maybe) didn't get it and said no need. I was bored, and have no excitment about sex, although I love her, always love her so.

Then, what will happen must happen. She said goodbye, yesterday. Yes, of course I was very sad at this moment. But even worse, when we came to the parking place, then that was the first time, I saw that she wore the long spandex gloves for UV protecting.

I don't know how you guys feel it, or have you ever had such a worst feeling like me. But, it's not just sad. IT HURTS!! Badly Painfully!! I just wanted to cry out then beg her to come back with me, but I could not because we were in Public. I'm feeling bad, very bad rightnow. I still love her and miss her. And I miss the experience which i haven't had chance to have it.

Just want to kill myself now. I'm speaking the truth...
Thanks for listening.

A bloody Christmas

Dear members,

First of all: Merry Christmas! I hope all of you have had a very enjoyable Christmas weekend, during which you hopefully got to wear rubber gloves as well... My Christmas wasn't only "bloody" nice, it was also quite bloody...! 😊

Our Christmas weekend started last Thursday, on Christmas Eve. We had to work until noon, and we spent the afternoon to get our Christmas groceries in the local supermarket, to work in the garden and clean the rabbit cage (in old wellies and rubber gloves, of course!), and to clean our house (of course in rubber gloves as well). While cleaning the toilet, that afternoon, I was holding a decorative glass bottle in my (gloved) hands, and as I was cleaning it, it slipped out of my hands. I tried to avoid it, by grabbing it a bit tighter, but instead, the bottle (which was made of pretty thick glass) broke apart, in 1001 pieces! 😊 After a couple of seconds, I noticed that blood was dripping out of my one of my torn yellow household rubber gloves (lovely contrast! 😊), so I went to the kitchen, pulled my rubber gloves off, and noticed that there was a deep cut in my left hand, which later appeared to have resulted in an arterial bleed! :O

After we closed the wound with a towel, my wife drove me to the ER of a nearby hospital, and my wound got disinfected and finally stitched. On itself, it wasn't a very pleasant experience, as you might understand, but the good part of it all was that all nurses and doctors (and there were quite a lot of them, 5 in total) who were treating and investigating me, all wore rubber gloves. Well, the blue thin disposable ones, but I still enjoyed it, up to a certain level... 😊 The highlight of my evening at the ER probably was when the (female) doctor stitched my wound, and she pulled another pair of rubber gloves on: also disposable ones, but really thick ones. Although I was still suffering an arterial bleed, I have to admit that it excited me quite a lot... 😊

Back home, my wife had to clean the whole mess (glass, blood) like a real crime scene cleaner, as she joked herself, and it was good to see her wearing thick household rubber gloves during it as well. I spent the rest of the evening on the couch, however, with a bandage around my hand, and a sling... Not the best Christmas Eve we ever had, and that wasn't just because of the lack of snow... 🙄 🙄

The rest of our Christmas weekend was pretty enjoyable, luckily, and we got the chance to wear rubber boots and rubber gloves on several occasions (although I can currently only wear one rubber glove, as you might understand, but it works!). So it wasn't that bad after all... 😊

Happy New Year in advance!

Regards,

Tim

I work in a city. 3 days back I went to my village on some work hiding my gloves in my bag. At that time one of my friend was in my flat. When I came back I noticed the bag zip open and all the clothes and gloves are placed here and there. I am sure he opened my bag and saw all the glove stuff I have. He didn't speak a single word to me regarding gloves or I didn't ask him whether he opened my bag. If he asks me about the gloves what should I tell? Or shall I ask him up front why did you open my bag? Please help me in this.

by GloveLover1 » Tue Jan 19, 2016 3:56 pm

Straight up ask him. He maybe into gloves himself and if not then just say you got them to use around the house or something there always a way to cover it up if need be 😊

by mnsbr77 » Wed Jan 20, 2016 12:31 pm

In my case, I would straight up to him and tell in his FACE to mind my things in future. Yes sharing a flat or room doesn't mean to disrespect to own privacy things. If in doubt, ASK!

by Jake » Thu Jan 21, 2016 2:08 am

Well dependent on what type of gloves they are, and what quantity you had in your bag, you could always just say you grabbed a few extras when doing XYZ at work and ended up bringing them back with you. I do that all the time.

by glove_maniac_007 » Thu Jan 21, 2016 7:36 am

Thanks for your suggestions.. I have around 14 pair of gloves... Out of them 6 to 7 are leather type.. 2 satin.. 2 cotton.. 2 lace fabric.. 1 house hold rubber gloves.. I am not sure he saw all of those.. It's difficult cover up the things having wide variety of collection..

Surprised by my girlfriend.

A LIAR EXPOSED BY GLOVE FETISHISTS WHO KNOW THEIR SHIT. (Warning: dick pic on the site, but not in the doc, because I care.)

by davidrf » Sat Aug 29, 2015 1:32 am

Yesterday I was surprised by my girlfriend in the bathroom. I was peeing when my girlfriend came up behind me and she took my penis with her gloved hands. She was wearing the gloves that I like most the rubber gloves for washing dishes. She told me that if I wanted that she will help me to urinate. When my penis was among her gloved hands I removed the urge to urinate.

I started to have a strong erection. A woman put behind you and she take your penis with her gloved hands is the most amazing. At the same time as she rubbed my penis she held me firmly by my buttocks. The feeling was so intense that I down on my knees to the ground. She continued rubbing my penis. I didn't want to ejaculate too quickly and then I hold a little her gloved hand to slow down the movement. I asked my girlfriend if she could get wet her gloves and put a little soap in them. While she did I was trembling. My penis was throbbing and I just wanted to let my girlfriend should continue the treatment. At that time all my strength was concentrated in a point and I had lost control. My girlfriend had the power over my body. Oh my god ... her gloves wet in my glans produced an enormous pleasure. My glans was very red. I had an irrepressible desire to ejaculate in her gloved hands. I did everything possible to avoid ejaculating. I wanted to be a long time as well. I cuddle with my girlfriend and I told her I love you while she was massaging my penis with her gloves. She gave me a kiss, and finally I explode and I ejaculate in her gloves. She told me while I was ejaculating: good boy ! very well give to your girl !.

Any other fetishes besides gloves?

<http://www.wwgfa.info/forum/viewtopic.php?f=22&t=23063>

by shinyglovelover » Tue Jan 03, 2017 7:46 pm

Like the title says does anyone have any other fetishes besides gloves? Apart from gloves I myself am into corsets, boots, plastic pool floaties, and pvc raincoats. Raincoats are my passion. I have over 150 in my collection. I love anything in pvc. I have several pvc dome umbrellas. I even have a thin layer of pvc sheeting I lay on the bed and I lucked out and found several shower curtains that resemble the pvc umbrella material. I have 2 of those I use as bed covers and 2 in my toybox on standby. I have also have some rubberwear, several gimp hoods, rolls of plastic in different thickness. Anyone who can top this would make me feel not strange.

I think I'd say I have a boots fetish too. Love seeing boots with rubber gloves, that is probably my favorite combination!!!

People who Feel Really Guilty about their Glove/Glove-Related Fetishes and Not Guilty Enough about Other Things

Should I continue?

<http://www.wwgfa.info/forum/viewtopic.php?f=22&t=11312>

by greenyrst » Mon Jun 24, 2013 5:53 am

I have a very dangerous fetish and don't know if I should continue with it?

I love to get kitted out in lot's of motorcycle protective clothing and perform stunts / crashes!! I have a specific and well planned list of gear I wear or should wear to protect myself. Groin protector (not purchased yet), padded shorts, full body armour with padding on spine, shoulders, chest, arms and elbows , full motorcycle leathers, Motocross boots (not yet purchased), gum shield, full face motorcycle helmet with visor, wrist guards, motorcycle padded and armoured gloves (not yet purchased) and neck brace (not yet purchased).

I put on all of the gear, to then crash on purpose, for fun (only involves myself in secluded spots, not on highways) I have had to substitute mx boots for steel toed boots and gloves have been 2 pairs of industrial gloves 1st leather and 2nd thick rubber over the leather ones. Before I actually crashed I built up slowly. I started out by running and then sliding along on the ground like someone might do to reach a base in base ball, only I did it on tarmac and concrete. Then when I was I bit more confident I took to a bike (only a push bike so far) my goal is to get up to speed (say 25mph) take off from a ramp say a couple of feet high and land on the front wheel being thrown over the bars and landing on my face , chest and knees. I'm a way off this yet!! so far I have rode fast and the jumped off causing me to tumble landing on my knee and continuing over onto my arm shoulder and finally my head. I started slowly and each time I have built up more speed as my faith in the gear built. I have also pulled a wheelie and fell backwards on purpose landing on my back, bum, elbows and head.

The gear has done it's job well with the armour and padding doing it's job in protecting me. I have only been slightly hurt twice 1st time was actually from faulty body armour which has been sorted now and the second time was the last time I went out, about 5 months ago. As I have said I have substituted mx boots for what I have, steel toed boots using 3 layers of thick socks for extra padding. I was always worried that my ankles were vunerable and I was right, luckily they only got bruised and not broken. I have promised myself I won't go out again until I can afford proper boots, gloves and a neck brace. I really want some protection for my groin too!!!! if I ever pluck up the courage to go over the bars I will get a hard chest protector to go over leathers too.

My fiancée knows about this fetish and is not very keen (understandably) she came out with me the 1st time I went out on a bike but didn't get out of the car. I have been out a couple of times since without her and I am scared to death in case I get hurt and I can't get help when I'm alone. I wish I could forget about this fetish but I can't. the buzz I get off using the protection for its intended use really turns me on.

I am not trying to get hurt, I want to feel protected doing something that WITHOUT the gear would almost certainly result in serious injury. The feelings I get when I'm in the gear are intense but when I'm on the bike ready to go it is an equal mix of fear and excitement. I close my visor set off and it's almost a point of no return. then when I'm as fast as I can get and I jump off, it is a point of no return. I have total belief in the protection, I selected it and I know it's designed for far greater speeds if you need it!! the only difference is for me it's there because I DO need it and I DO need it to work.

Should I continue?

[Many people telling him he should probably stop this.]

by greenyrst » Fri Jul 04, 2014 6:10 am

Well I've got an empty house tonight so all my motorcycle gear will be getting an outing.

by greenyrst » Wed Sep 24, 2014 6:20 am just an update

My fetish has not subsided and on Monday night I am going out for my next crash session.

I have bought quite a lot of new gear in recent weeks in anticipation. I have bought new thicker leathers, moto cross boots, a groin/abdo protector and some proper motorcycle gloves with hard armour.

In anticipation of my up coming fun I decided I should try on all my new gear with all my old gear. I put on my padded shorts with my body armour. then I fitted my new groin protector. I put my new leathers on over all of that (a tight squeeze) I fitted my new motorcross boots and adjusted all of the straps. next I fitted my helmet and gum shield followed by my wrist guards and armoured leather gloves. I felt so much safer than I ever have before. as a result im sure I will be much more relaxed when doing stunts.

I cant wait to throw myself down a concrete road. first stunt will be a jump from a bike at around 20mph, I have done it before but never while wearing this level of protection, the though of what is to come is such a turn on!!! im excited most of the time, I cant wait for Monday night 😄

I have had a great day today bondage session in motorcycle gear followed by some glove action. In a few hours I will make it a hatrick and go out for my long overdue crash session.

by greenyrst » Mon Jul 20, 2015 6:28 am

Hi all, I'm still participating in this fetish of mine. I now own every item of protective gear on my wish list with the exception of a neck brace. I have wrecked 1 set of motorcycle leathers, 2 full face helmets and several pairs of leather motorcycle gloves.

I have increased the speeds at which I crash to over 30 mph now.

I Went out again last night to try my some new gear (leathers, helmet and gloves) I found a secluded hill to increase the speed on. I put on all of my gear, got on the bike . Adrenaline was definitely pumping looking down the hill through my visor. I set off pedalling as fast as I could. When I was going as fast as I dared (aprox 35-40mph) I approached a right hand bend and started to lean, as I went around the bend I let the bike drop to the ground. I skidded along the Tarmac at surprising speed on my right hand side, I started to tumble shoulders, elbows and knees all hitting the road hard. I ended up sliding a short distance on my front with my visor scraping along the ground. (watching the road rush past was scary but fun). I came to a stop at least a hundred foot from where I fell.

I got up off the ground and checking for injuries as I did. My knees were a little bruised but fine. I collected my bike and went back to the top of the hill.

Seeing that my gear was all still fine I decided to have another go. I changed my helmet (that one will now only be used for much smaller sessions) again I pedalled as hard as I could hoping to go even faster not sure I did though. I went past my 1st crash scene to the next long straight. I climbed off the bike, standing just on the left pedal as I sped down hill and then stepped off the pedal. As my feet touched the floor I was violently thrown Into a roll, 1st thing to hit was my helmet face first followed by my chest and knees. I was tumbling like a rag doll. I managed to stop the rolling action with my gloved hands and slid quite a way on my back and arse. This time I unfortunately didn't get away completely unscathed. My elbow pad on my left arm moved and it took a big hit as a result it has swollen up quite a bit. Also my jaw is a bit sore from where it was forced forwards into my helmet, I was glad I had my gum shield in as I bit down on that quite hard as I impacted the floor.

My leathers are badly scuffed but in no way unusable.

Motocross boots are scratched on the sides but fine, defiantly one of my best purchases.

Helmet from 2nd crash is scrap (not worth taking the risk given the severity of the impact.)

Gloves this time are fine as I now double glove, wrist guards, leather motorcycle gloves then very thick industrial pvc gauntlets. (much cheaper to replace)

I must be completely nuts to keep doing this!!!! But the rush is unparalleled . Any thoughts about what should do E.g. stop or carry on welcome ,although I fully understand that this is not really the correct type of site to share this sort of fetish. (just needed to share my experience with someone)

2 helmets later I'm still unable to stop with this fetish !!!

Even though I have quite a few other fetishes this remains my favourite, although also my most embarrassing, secretive and dangerous.

Moral dilemma, help would greatly appreciated!

Before I talk at length about this topic, I would just like to make it clear that I do not support the oppression, objectification or sexual exploitation of women. Although this statement admittedly sounds half baked. I would not have written about it, at some length, if I did not have any conviction in my beliefs stated above.

Allow me to explain myself a little better. (Please forgive the whinny/indecisive/ desperate/ pathetic tone.) I work towards making myself a better person each day, hence why I want to deal with this issue.

I have recently found myself increasingly drawn to the idea of spending time with an escort/prostitute. (yes I do use protection and keep my personal hygiene in check so please don't lecture me on it) And I feel not only disappointed with myself, but also conflicted. I like the whole experience leading up to a 'punt' to be every exciting. It fun to organize and hear how she will apparently make all my fantasies come true and travel to her place.

I'm full of anticipation. But in my visits to escorts (so far), I feel a bit disappointed, not with the sexual side, but more basic human interaction.

Let me make myself clear, I'm not just there for any fun that may occur between two consenting adults, rather I have been seduced by the seedy world of escorting; I'm fascinated by how it works, why people do it and how they get away with it. I want to get to know the girl and have a casual, fun and genuine experience with her. But the intimacy, or lack there of, feels so mechanical and forced.

In fairness I can't blame an escort for being mechanical and not showing much emotion, I'm fully aware that many independent escorts choose to sell themselves. But I'm also aware that a majority resent the fact that they are used by men as nothing more than sex objects.

By visiting a Escort am I not perpetuating this belief?

I do not expect forgiveness or understanding. (yes you can judge me as negatively as you want)

I'm simply trying to understand why I am willing to undermine my core beliefs?

Does this mean that they are not a deep seated as I first thought they were?

Or I'm I willing to bend my own rules, because of the primal nature of sex and lust?

Any Thoughts on my dilemma would be greatly appreciated.

PS: As a brit currently living abroad, (in a country where women are not treated that well) could it be that it just normal for the escorts to lack emotion, because I've heard that a majority of escorts back in the UK, are great at providing emotional intimacy, even if it is artificial.

How much are you willing to pay for an escort? I can imagine the 'cheap' ones, and those who have pimps aren't doing what they're doing very willingly. They're either forced into it or are doing it because they really need the money. There's no reason for them to do anything more than they have to, which in most cases is just getting the guy off.

However, escorts from higher end agencies (preferably ran by a women) may actually do it just because they can. They've consciously made the decision to become a sex worker, and there's really nothing wrong with that.

In the latter case, there's no reason for you to feel bad about it. In the former case, however, you've gotta ask yourself which is more important to you: your principles or your sexual needs.

I don't suppose you've got much of a choice in the Carribean, though.

Disclaimer: I come from a country where prostitution is (mostly) legal. (Which doesn't mean that there's no exploitation of women, btw.)

Thanks for the advice Romm. I suppose you're right about the 'cheap' sex workers. A majority of folk in the Caribbean, have no good qualifications or training and do seem to struggle to make ends meet, so I guess the opportunity to make fast cash (by giving a guy a 'quickie' is somewhat appealing) and I guess this explains their detachment, for them it is more about money than pleasure.

I feel as though my morals are more important to me. So I will stop seeing women whom I believe are exploited, it may be hard to spot but I guess having a stable of sex workers is not normal, as opposed to independent sex workers.

I guess If I really need some female attention I should seek out a more professional independent escort, who has made the choice herself.

The guilt

Does anybody else, having pleased themselves with a pair of rubber gloves, ever get that sudden sense of guilt and have to take them off then vow they will never do it again, only for it all to subside in about 10 minutes?

I've been doing it for years and still always feel the guilt that makes me have to take them off. It's probably not a bad thing though. I may never take them off otherwise!

"Having pleased themselves" as in, having cum? Of course I do! 😊 I don't think it has anything to do with rubber gloves, though. It's just a feeling a lot of men get after having an orgasm. Russell Brand has a great skit about it in one of his shows (can't remember which one right now), about how right after cumming he suddenly realizes he's gonna die some day. It's not exactly what you're describing, but I think it's similar.

When I was younger, like 12 or something, I did try to stop myself once from doing it, thinking it was wrong (not just the gloves, but even masturbating in general). I kept it up for a month (!) before I tried it again, and I haven't stopped since. 😊 i understand what you mean Porpoise. i used to get it really bad when i was younger. use to think i was a freak for masturbating with gloves on. i went to the extreme once of chucking out my entire collection of gloves (was a good 15 pairs) and deleting all my gloved files off my computer. i just thought, this is wrong and i shouldnt be doing it. but after chatting to others with a glove fetish i soon realised i wasnt alone n its not all that bad. now it would be quite the expense to throw it all away now that i have such a big collection lol.

as you grow up, u start to learn that everyone is different and has their own ways in life. people may think its strange but if you believe in yourself and enjoy doing what you do then nobody can take that away from you. i learnt that we are who we are and you more you tried to pry away from a fetish, you more it seems to lure you back into it. we ares stuck with this for life and the sooner you accept it, the better it becomes. why feel guilty over something you love?

I used to get this too - it wasn't until I was in a long term relationship and my GF was accepting of my fetish that it stopped. She made me realise that it was OK to have a fetish and that it was just part of life's rich pattern. It doesn't hurt anyone, after all. We are married now, and she's still OK with it, but we have to balance things carefully as invariably I want sex with her wearing them and she would like a bit more Vanilla! It's all about consideration.

I don't feel the guilt until it's too late. It happens then I think "what would others think of me if they'd seen what I'd just done?"

But to be honest...I'm too paranoid!

I can relate to pretty much everything all have posted about guilt. I call it "fetish guilt", as soon as I cum I usually feel guilty or even remorseful about which ever of my fetish I'm doing or thinking about. It does soon pass (usually) and I then want to do it all over again. Often during my guilt phase I think " I should get rid of all my fetish stuff and just be normal" fortunately I never have because I'd feel even worse if I did.

With regards partners, I tried to have fetish sex (gloves, motorcycle gear, bondage,anal) too much. which had a negative effect on our sex life! Now we seem to have struck a balance between fetish and vanilla sex. It's roughly 50/50. I found that although the mrs enjoys some aspects of my fetishes, on the whole she just tolerates them! She may enjoy the fetish side but she doesn't feel loved so now if we fuck (fetish) next time I always try to make love (vanilla)

I hope that all made sense.

Being 48 🍷 my sexual activities, wanking,, started in the early 80s. Back then the www was just someones dream but I'd always known I was turned on by rubber household gloves. But back then I felt like I was the only one in the world who liked rubber which did make me feel guilty every time I wanked. I also, unfortunately, threw away my collection once. But when the internet started i realise I wasn't the only one.

It used too be a bit tough at the beginning finding glove clips, bobcos hetero hand job site was quite good, but now I'm amazed how many glove clips are available. Oh and the guilt? That's gone. 😊

I remember the time I first masturbated with a pair of surgical gloves. I was 13, and although I was enjoying it, I stopped about halfway through and never finished. I felt so raunchy for even having masturbated at all. I hadn't done anything after that for about 2 years, and then I started again when I was 15. Didn't actually cum for the first time until I was 17, because I would always lose interest and guilt-trip myself, but after feeling that first cum I feel like everything changed. I no longer felt guilty or nasty about how I got myself off. I just hate that I have to stay quiet about it, haha.

Finding this post is relieving to me.

This guilt or the mentioned "fetish guilt" is something that I have always experienced when masturbating with gloves.

It happens to me only when some fetish is involved, not during common sex, although I had a girlfriend years ago that made me feel bizarre after I suggested her to wear gloves during sex a pair of times. She used that during general discussions to make me feel bad.

I usually feel a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde, and it makes me weak even in personal life, because I know there is part of me which likes an habit that is not common. Even if I know many people have this fetish, I still feel Im doing something awkward gloving myself.

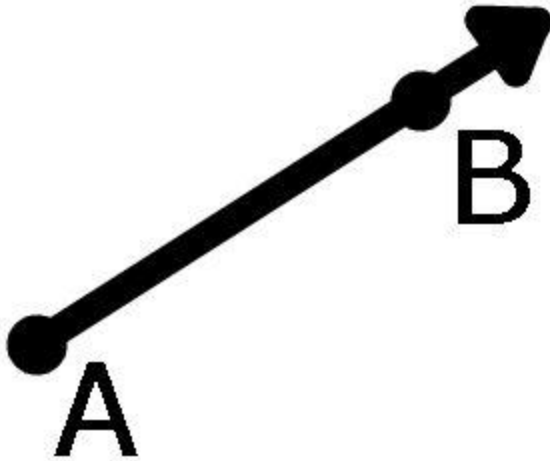

There have been times where I decided to stop doing that forever, and stop watching fetish content on the internet, but after all, I always come back again. Same happened with collection of latex gloves. The guilt I feel after makes me wish I had not this fetish, but after a time, usually during the same day, I forget about it and continue with my life. Usually the day or two days after, I feel damnably attracted again when there is an occasion to search for glove related content or wearing gloves if having an occasion. It sounds stupid how a person can decide to throw to the bin a pair of gloves and wish to buy new ones the following day, but it happens. And many times I felt I had some kind of disorder. So it is good to know Im not the only one. In the end, gloves have an extraordinary power and eroticism nothing else has.
