

Jack Morrison

Birthplace: Bloomington, Indiana
Callsign: Soldier:76
Affiliation: Vigilante
Age: 55~
Gender: Male
Sexuality: Gay
Activity: Active

Joining the army at 18 years old, Jack had wanted to leave his hometown and see the world. During the Omnic Crisis, Jack remained and joined the SEP, protecting innocent lives and the people he cared for. After, he was made Strike Commander, taking Reyes's leadership position. But, all good things do not last forever and, upon being caught in the explosion at Zurich, Jack Morrison was no more, and all that rose from the ashes was a soldier on the run.

Gabriel Reyes

Birthplace: Los Angeles, California
Callsign: Reaper
Affiliation: Talon
Age: 58
Gender: Male
Sexuality: Bisexual
Activity: Active

A senior officer in the military, Reyes enlisted in the SEP during the Omnic Crisis. Continuing on, Reyes led the Strike Team throughout the Crisis. Afterwards, Morrison took Reyes's position as leader in the newly formed Overwatch, something that he had been glad about, with him leading Blackwatch instead. Yet, as time went on, tensions within the organization grew. Eventually, that tension ended in a flurry of flames and smoke, encompassing the man until he was but a ghost of his former self--a man with a vengeance.

Jesse McCree

Birthplace: Santa Fe, New Mexico
Callsign: None
Affiliation: Vigilante
Age: 37
Gender: Male
Sexuality: Bisexual
Activity: Active

Raised in a farm in Texas, McCree ran the Deadlock Gang alongside Elizabeth Ashe during their youth. But, after a string of crimes, it all came to an end as Overwatch caught wind of their actions, busting the gang in a sting operation and taking in most of the members, including McCree. Upon arrival and after much interrogation, McCree was given a choice: join Blackwatch or rot in prison. In turn, he chose the former. During his time in Blackwatch, McCree excelled in his marksmanship with the help of Ana Amari, while also being trained under Reyes. But, as years passed and tensions grew, McCree left the organization, resurfacing as a gun for hire.

Hana Song

Birthplace: Busan, South Korea
Callsign: D.Va
Affiliation: MEKA Program
Age: 19
Gender: Female
Sexuality: Bisexual
Activity: Active

A former professional gamer, Song won several competitions throughout her childhood, ascending to the #1 rank and winning the world championship in e-sports. However, over time, attacks by Gwishin omnic were rampant and, as the omnic continued to adapt, the old MEKA program was disrupted. In response, the government sought out pro-gamers as pilots for the new MEKA program, including Song. In turn, Song accepted her role in MEKA and abandoned her gaming career, becoming a symbol of hope for the people she swore to protect.

Genji Shimada

Birthplace: Hanamura, Japan
Callsign: None
Affiliation: Overwatch
Age: 35
Gender: Male
Sexuality: Pansexual
Activity: Semi-Active

Born into the Shimada Clan, Genji lived a life of luxury and wanted to do little with the Clan's business, seeing it as only Hanzo's priority. As time went on, Genji became more carefree, perusing the streets of Hanamura during the late hours of the night as an escape from the Clan. But, due to such, the Elders demanded Genji to be dealt with, leading to his presumed death under the hands of his brother. However, Genji survived due to Overwatch rescuing him, as he was seen as an asset to combat the Shimada Clan, along with Angela's interference. Yet, even though Genji agreed to help dismantle the Clan, the Shimada was consumed by rage for years to come, over both what the Clan, especially his brother, had done to him, and what his body had become, being repulsed by the mechanical parts of his body. Within the first few years of joining, Genji became a member of Blackwatch, only to later join the Overwatch team, and then finally leave the organization once his mission was done. Within his travels, Genji was still at war with his body, only slowly coming to terms with himself upon arriving and staying at the Shambali Monastery for a time. Now at peace with himself, Genji received the Recall, joining the newly formed Overwatch.

Zenyatta

Birthplace: N/A
Callsign: None
Affiliation: Monk
Age: 20
Gender: Non-binary
(He/They)
Sexuality: Pansexual
Activity: Semi-Active

A former monk of the Shambali and teacher to Genji, Zenyatta disagreed with the group's teachings, preferring interpersonal relationships with humans rather than using dogmatic teachings to create a connection with humans. Ultimately, Zenyatta left the monastery and decided to follow his own path.

Angela Ziegler

Birthplace: Zurich, Switzerland
Callsign: Mercy
Affiliation: Overwatch
Age: 37
Gender: Female
Sexuality: Bisexual
Activity: Low

A medical prodigy during her youth, Angela grew up during the Crisis, losing her parents as a result. However, despite the tragedy, Angela was consumed by a desire to help those in need and become an advocate for peace. As years passed, Angela rose to become the head of surgery at a prominent Swiss hospital, pioneering a breakthrough in the field of applied nanobiology. After some convincing from Morrison, Angela joined Overwatch and, while she did not agree with how militaristic Overwatch was, she recognized that they offered her the opportunity to save lives on a much larger scale. During her time there, Angela made several contributions to Overwatch in medical research. But, as years passed and tensions grew, Angela left Overwatch, working in different medical facilities instead. But, after receiving the Recall, Angela joined the newly formed Overwatch, realizing that her battle was not over.

Mei-Ling Zhou

Birthplace: Xi'an, China
Callsign: None
Affiliation: Overwatch
Age: 31 (biological); 40 (chronological)
Gender: Female
Sexuality: Bisexual
Activity: Low

A member of Overwatch and a part of a multi-year initiative towards discovering the cause of an unexplained climate phenomena, Mei introduced cutting-edge innovations in the field of climate manipulation that protected at-risk areas in Asia and beyond. During her time in the organization, Mei was placed in Watchpoint: Antarctica with other scientists and researched an atmospheric anomaly above Antarctica. But, not too long, disaster struck, with the Watchpoint being hit by a polar storm, cutting the base off from the outside world and resources. As a solution in wanting to save supplies, Mei and the rest of the scientists went into cryostasis in hopes to survive until a rescue comes. Nine years later, Mei exited her cryo-pod and, along with Snowball, acted as if nothing had happened. But, it did not take long for Mei to realize how much the world had changed, discovering that her colleagues were long gone and that Overwatch had shut down. Yet, even with all that against her and discovering Winston's message, Mei gathered her data and left the base, traveling around the world and continuing her research before finally deciding to join the newly formed Overwatch.

Muse list may change*

Maximilien

Birthplace: N/A
Callsign: None
Affiliation: Talon
Age: 35
Gender: Male
Sexuality: Pansexual
Activity: Low

An accountant to Akande and a council member to Talon, Maximilien found his true talent in money laundering. Upon Antonio's passing within the organization, Max was one of the many members that stepped up to fill the void where he left and exerted more muscle within Talon over the next two years. As of now, Max has gained substantial wealth due to owning several businesses around the world, including Don Rumbotico and Casino Monaco.

Vincent Braff

Birthplace: Bloomington, Indiana
Callsign: None
Affiliation: Atlas News
Age: 55~
Gender: Male
Sexuality: Gay
Activity: Low

Raised in Bloomington, Vincent craved for something bigger in life and wanted to get out of town as soon as he could, something that he and his boyfriend at the time, Jack Morrison, shared. Ultimately, that was heading to Emerson College in Boston right after he graduated high school, going for a Bachelor's Degree in Journalism. During his time there, Vincent excelled and watched as reports of the Omnic Crisis surfaced. Though this caused him to worry over the safety of his loved ones, it only fueled the flames of searching for information and bringing it out to the public. By the time the Omnic Crisis ended, Vincent published many news reports and became well established in his field. Now residing in London, Vincent works as a journalist and reporter for his own station, having gained experience working for Atlas News for years.