Overarching Message

Teachers have the power to transform education, but education systems need to transform to support them - through better training and professional development, increased investment, improved working conditions, and by raising the status of the profession.

Key messages

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 | #TransformingEducation means more qualified and motivated teachers. This includes attracting young talented people to join and stay in the profession, and offering competitive salaries, professional development and career pathways. |
| 2 | Nothing for teachers without teachers! To transform education, teachers must have a say in the decisions affecting them and their learners. |
| 3 | #TeachersTransform learning, but they need investment and support to be agents of change. #InvestInTeachers. |
| 4 | #TransformingEducation begins with investing in teachers! It's a proven investment in social and economic development, employment and peace. |

5	To transform education, teachers, school leaders and education support personnel need official recognition for their qualifications & competitive salaries to improve their social and professional status.
6	Educators need safe and well-resourced work environments as well as social-emotional and peer support if they are to transform education.
7	Teachers should be recognized as important agents of change who transform their individual learners and the class to promote gender equality, inclusivity and tolerance.
8	#TeachersTransform learning when they have autonomy and freedom to decide on how to address the learning needs and develop the potential of each learner. We must support educators as change agents.
9	#TeachersTransform education when they work together. They need the space to learn from one another, and have their innovations rewarded.
