

Letter

This form is to express agreement with Synergy and Terra retaining its full Co-Op status for the upcoming year. A separate form for if you are interested in living in Synergy next year is at <https://forms.gle/eW7KzvUHahqQWsWL8> and Terra next year is at <https://forms.gle/M43YL6ZVW6vif8dg6>

UPDATE 5/6: VPSA has made the decision to sunset both Synergy and Terra. This is despite repeated attempts to communicate our community's perspective and dedication to existing as a Co-Op and betrays their previous promise to listen to the houses throughout this process. Please continue signing this Letter of Support to help us in our efforts to regain our Co-Op statuses and continue to be a spaces of community care and alternative living.

Additionally, we are asking students, alumni, faculty, and staff to send emails of support to VPSA and VPUE using this template: bit.ly/SynTerraEmail

If you are a former or current co-op residents, brief or thorough testimonials of your experiences can help bolster our argument on why co-op living is important to students.

To whom it may concern,

On April 22nd, ResEd administrators presented Synergy and Terra with three options for a path forward in light of preassignment under 50% of house capacity. These were (1) dissolve the houses as we know them; (2) keep both houses, but convert to "semi-self ops"; and (3) merge Terra and Synergy into one co-op.

The Synergy community appreciates their commitment to involving students in determining a solution to address low preassignment numbers. Students are the closest to the issues and therefore closest to the solutions. Having spoken as a house, we are advocating to allow Synergy to back-fill vacancies, as suggested in Option 2, without converting to a "semi self-op" and with no increased housing rates, dining, or custodial service.

We understand the concern that filling the house with people who did not preassign could mean having residents who are unwilling to do house jobs and engage in the house theme. Changing the designation of the house to "self-op" will only exacerbate this problem by inviting in students who are not expected to be asked to do house jobs. We are arguing that Synergy and Terra can continue to thrive as a true co-ops. As evidence, we have collected a list of current students who are committed to applying to live in Synergy as the co-op it is today during the general housing assignment— meaning many of our vacancies will be filled with people who are enthusiastic about living in Synergy and who consent to the additional labor that comes with living in a co-op.

Additionally, people who draw into living in co-ops are not inherently disengaged with the house culture and duties. Synergy has had many residents who did not preassign living in the house every year, and completion of house jobs and participation in the house culture has rarely been an issue. In fact, welcoming people who draw into the house is an important way for us to expand our community.

Allowing us to fill our house and remain operating as a co-op is the best option for success in cultivating a nourishing community, and is the lowest logistical lift on the university's end. Increasing the cost of living at Synergy and Terra is prohibitive and only serves to hinder co-op culture on campus. Our low preassignment numbers do not necessarily reflect a lack of interest in living at Synergy. The lack of a ranking system to apply to live in co-ops, many changes to the university housing system, and a short preassignment window have created barriers to collecting high preassignment numbers.

Co-ops serve as an important space for historically marginalized communities at Stanford. Dismantling Synergy and Terra's co-op status is a clear divestment in these communities and in the culture of cooperative housing by the university. Synergy specifically has served as a refuge for everyone, including and especially Black, Brown, Queer, Trans, low income, disabled, and neurodivergent individuals. Synergy is a historic co-op established in the 1970's with a strong community that expands far beyond the house and it is our responsibility to preserve it. A single year of low preassignment does not prove that Synergy has failed or would serve Stanford better as a self-op.

Below are members of the Stanford community who support Synergy having the opportunity to back fill vacancies and remain as a co-op without any increased housing rates or outside dining/custodial services.

Regular Assignment Residents' Testimony

To whom it may concern,

My name is Chenault, and I'm a junior who drew into Synergy after pre-assignment. Although I often felt I wanted more out of my housing experience, I initially chose not to preassign Synergy because it felt easier to stick with housing that was more familiar. Every day, I am grateful I decided to take a leap and opt for Synergy during regular assignment.

The Synergy community is by far the most intentional, warm, and welcoming group of people I've ever lived with. I honestly did not think dorm life at Stanford could get so vibrant. It's been wonderful to live in a community that is invested in making the house work for everyone. I've been on cook shift all three quarters, cooking dinner for 40 for 3 hours once a week. It truly feels like a labor of love. Presssignees and those who drew in live and work together without distinction. This is why it was especially disheartening to hear R&DE use a higher proportion of regular assignees to justify turning Synergy into a semi Self-Op. If you all are concerned about prospective residents not being invested in Co-Op jobs or community, this change in designation will only exacerbate that problem. The new label will only attract people who do not expect to put in the work needed to sustain a Co-Op. Our community works as is, and I strongly urge you all to reconsider. I am immensely grateful to Synergy for such an amazing year and to Stanford Housing Services for giving me the option to live in such a unique and special place. Thank you for your time.

Chenault Ellis

To whom it may concern,

I regular assigned into the house my sophomore year, knowing little about co-ops but just trying to get away from my neighborhood in the initial stages of the neighborhood system. Although I did not know the workload or the cultural values of synergy entering the house, I found the job system very friendly to my needs and availability, and the culture one that prioritized spaces that included everyone and actively tried to expand its reach through regular assignees. I very quickly cared a lot about the community and house, and have lived there for all three of my upperclassmen years at Stanford, and staffed last year.
