1. Explain the statement: "Receipt and Payment Account is a summarised version of Cash Book".

A receipts and payments account (R & P Account) is a summary of actual cash receipts and payments that is extracted from the cash book over a certain time period. All the cash received is recorded on the Receipts and all cash payments are recorded in Payments side of the R & P Account. The account containing all expenses and losses for current accounting period prepared by a Not-for-profit organisation is called as Income and Expenditure (I & E) account, while a similar account prepared by profit earning organisation is called as Profit and Loss Account (P & L).

Here are some of the similarities between I & E and P & L accounts:

A NPO (Not-for-Profit organisation) has different sources of receipts in the form of subscriptions, donations, government grants etc. Of these some receipts are general while some are specific. Specific receipts are used only for the purpose for which it is received while general receipts can be used for any purpose. The specific receipts are not considered as revenue income for the Not-for-Profit organisation and therefore are reflected in I & E account.

In a way, specific receipts are considered as liabilities to the Not-for-Profit organisation as these amounts are received for specific purpose and cannot be used elsewhere. These are reflected in Liabilities side of Balance Sheet, until and unless it is completely used for the purpose it was received. If such amount is invested in the form of shares or debentures, then it is known as funds such as prize funds, match funds etc. The interest earned on such investment are not credited to I & E Account, instead it is credited to the respective fund account.

Similarly, any expense that is incurred for such funds gets debited from respective fund account. Such funds are shown in the liabilities side of Balance Sheet. If the expenses exceed the receipts of the fund, the difference gets reflected in I & E Account.
