Dear Hiring Manager:

As a senior economics major at Haverford College, I am writing to express my enthusiasm for the Risk Analyst position at Setti Bank's Boston location. Setti Bank's reputation for innovation in financial services and its commitment to excellence in risk management have long impressed me. I am particularly drawn to this role because it offers the opportunity to apply my analytical skills and financial modeling knowledge in a dynamic and collaborative environment. My mentor, Don Joe, a Haverford alumnus working in your US Economics division, has spoken highly of Setti Bank's supportive culture and the exciting challenges of the Risk Analyst position.

This past summer, at my internship at The Conference Board, an independent business membership and research association best known for its Consumer Confidence Index, I worked with the MidMarkets department. I reassessed The Conference Board's model for defining mid-market firms by empirically examining firm revenues and analyzing mid-market literature from academic journals, business press, and one-on-one interviews. I also assisted the sales associates in targeting potential high-growth members by performing regression analysis on firm-level data to study the contributing factors on future firm growth. The Sales Department is now utilizing my findings.

Furthermore, my extensive background in economics and mathematics at Haverford College has sharpened my analytical skills. My position as an Economics Teaching Assistant for the Introduction to Economics course and an upper-level Econometrics course not only demonstrates my ability to communicate concepts and ideas clearly, but also my commitment to helping others understand complex topics.

I am confident that my passion, drive, commitment, and skills would enable me to make a significant and meaningful contribution to Setti Bank's initiatives. My academic background and internship experience have equipped me with the analytical and interpersonal skills essential for this role. I am eager to contribute to Setti Bank's continued success and innovation. Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Morgan Willams
