

Previously on the Real Housewives of Beverly Hills...

The girls trip has been filled with the non-stop drama we've come to expect from this group of women.

Candi had confided in Holly and her new friend, Chardonnay, that she was looking for a new place to live and had successfully found herself a new condo somewhere downtown in Los Angeles, but has yet to tell the girls where that is exactly.

Elsewhere on the island, Holly sat down with Crysta-Elizabeth to speak on their issues and decided to let bygones be bygones and to move forward with their friendship. Later that day, Crysta-Elizabeth spent most of the afternoon telling the rest of the group (Tamika, Carly, and Christinith) what she really thought of the whole situation while Holly and Chardonnay spent some time on a boat with Candi in the beautiful Tahitian lagoon.

Now, today is the final day on the island for the girls before heading back to the United States and back to their real lives.

All this and more on the Real Housewives of Beverly Hills! NEXT!

*"I get paid to help people with their problems. I'll tell you yours for free." Tamika De'What.

*"Karma is a bitch so I don't have to be." Christinith.

"Just because I'm called the girl next door, doesn't mean I'll let you have any sugar." Carly Griffin.

"Don't try to figure me out - my therapist can't either." Candi Hart.

"You need a good girl, I'm a good time." Crysta-Elizabeth J. Du-Chatalay.

"My hoodies are brighter than my future, also don't ask where my money came from."
Chardonnay Sackler.

"It's nice to be important, but remember, it's important to not be nice." Holly Adams.

Just as with the previous episode, the audience is treated to a few different beautiful shots of beaches, people running about through the soft, white, dunes. Shots of the downtown areas, lively and bustling with the populace going about their day. The final shot we're shown is the villas the girls have been staying at after the first night where they were better suited for the Hunger Games rather than Bravo! TV.

CHARACTER KEY

Crysta-Elizabeth - Holly - Christinith

Our first scene opens on Holly who is sitting by herself at a table by the beach. She has her large sunglasses on just as she had the previous day, but her gigantic hat has been traded in for a more 'subtle,' sunhat which does the same job at a quarter of the size.

The camera pans over her shoulder and shows that she's mid-text conversation with her beloved fiancé, Jayce Barshall, who is explaining to her that he may be late meeting her at her home tomorrow as he had a last minute appointment scheduled tomorrow afternoon with world-renowned relay champion, Jennifer Slowpez, the Mississippi Map Turtle.

Holly's texts back to him explain that she understands and that she'll be a little bit sad that they're losing out on time together, but again, she understands, his patients come first. She wishes that Jayce understood the usefulness of being able to do telehealth visits, like having Zoom calls with his patients, but time and time again he reminds Holly that these animals deserve the in-person treatment.

So, as always, Holly says she just understands. She'd ask why his stupid partner couldn't help him out but Jayce said that she does more of the back of house stuff rather than dealing with patients directly. When Holly asked if it was just his secretary at that point, he responded very angrily that that is belittling to his partner who has put in countless hours in seeing his practice founded and developed.

But, that's all in the past and Holly knew it was probably time to start thinking about the next steps for her and her fiancé, who she loves so much, Jayce Barshall.

Holly's thoughts are interrupted as someone throws their bag down across from her at the table. She looks up quickly, thinking the sun has been blocked out by an eclipse, but then just realizes it's only Crysta-Elizabeth making her entrance.

"Hey worstie! Long time no see!" She jests.

Holly smiles as she takes a long sip from her virgin long-island iced tea, which when she ordered it, the bartender looked at her confused and asked if she just wanted regular iced-tea, but Holly insisted it had to be long-island.

"Hey girl! Sorry, just checking in with Jacey, he misses me so much!"

"I can imagine, that little cutie of yours. Are you excited to head home and get to see him?"

"Yeah, it's been weird, having all this time apart from each other. We've both been working so hard lately, what with him taking all of these extra patients on and me being on this lavish vacation with all of my best friends. I just can't find any time for myself lately."

"You and me both, I'm so wrapped up with this new regimen that Semaj has me on and I just can't keep up with it sometimes. First, I have to get up in the morning and drink approximately twelve ounces of water, and then chase that with two water pills,"

"I've just been so bloated from it lately, I think I've put on at least ten pounds from just water weight alone from this cleanse. But anyways, after the waterpills, then I have to make this ridiculous shake but supposedly it's supposed to keep your metabolism up and it counts as a meal for the day," Holly stares at her elephantine friend, head turned slightly, looking at her in awe at how many MLM's she sounds like she is now a part of because of Semaj.

"Then," oh god there's a then, Holly thinks to herself, "I have this fun little patch that I have to put on that keeps the hormones pumping into my system. Semaj said that at the end of this little cleanse, I'll go right down to a size 6 and he's never been wrong before about guiding me on my spiritual journey."

"...spiritual journey?" Holly asks, genuinely curious as to what Crysta-Elizabeth is now talking about. She's not trying any of that shake nonsense because her friend has only gained weight since starting the cleanse, but the spiritual part is something Holly could get some interest in.

"Yes, Spiritual Journey! I think you've noticed how my assistant, James, went to that very exclusive divinity school and was reborn as Semaj. He's done nothing but amazing things since he went and he's been so right about everything."

"Such as?"

"Well, he was the one who told me to give you a chance again, even though you were being a total bitch. He told me about this amazing technique of keeping nine lemons in a bowl in the northwest corner of my home to bring good luck. He even said I was close to a breakthrough with finding love!"

“This actually sounds like a really cool idea, do you think that I should look into having some sort of spiritual consigliere of my own too?”

“I think it’d do anyone good to have a little spiritual guidance in their lives! For you especially, what with how crazy your life is all of the time, you could really use some sort of person to help you put things in order.”

“So, what would you suggest then?”

“I can get with Semaj when I get home and ask him if he has any friends or if there is anyone that he knows of that we could set up some interviews for you with, but are you going to have the same negative response with them like you did the Great Haboob?”

Holly isn’t sure how to respond to the question solely because she isn’t sure if Crysta-Elizabeth is being sarcastic or not.

A few months ago, the girls had had a party where they had met a jolly, little man by the name of the Great Haboob. He is a world renowned psychic who has been brought to many events for his readings. When he met with the Housewives, he had given most of the women a reading but Holly hadn’t been the happiest with what he was telling her.

The Great Haboob had been dead set on the thought that Holly’s true love’s name began with the letter A, but she was sure he was confused. The love of her life is Jayce Barshall, which begins with a J. So, Holly was convinced that The Great Haboob was full of it,

But, if what Crysta-Elizabeth has been saying about her life lately, about getting it together, has been true? Holly would be more open to hearing about her own spiritual journey then. Heck, she might even give the Great Haboob another shot at this point, but once Crysta-Elizabeth stops bragging about her juice cleanse that's only gained her weight, maybe Holly would be more inclined to believe her then.

"Well, well, well, aren't we having a fun little chat here?" Christinith pulls a chair up to the table, smiling at both Holly and Crysta-Elizabeth as she sets her own beach bag down next to her, pulling her glasses off.

"Oh, hey Christinith. How did you sleep?"

"I would've slept better, but Jambi kept me up all night, if you know what I mean."

Crysta-Elizabeth and Holly share a look that they haven't shared in probably two months now, and that is of understanding. Neither wants to ask Christinith to elaborate, but they both know she will regardless.

"Because we had phone sex."

"Oh, wow, Christinith, that's so great, would you look at the ti-"

"It's gotten so much better with FaceTime though, because before it used to just be the whole 'what are you wearing,' and describing, but now I can just show him my kitty up close and personal."

"Oh my god that's...wow...great-"

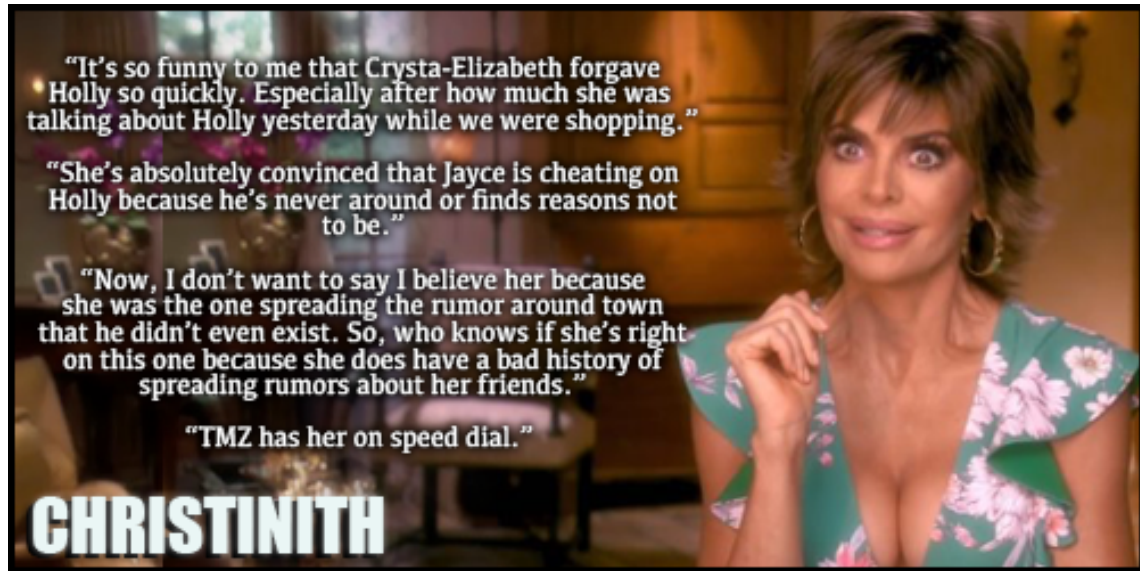

"It's just so freeing to be able to talk about it now though. Thank god I have you guys, most people think I'm some kind of freak weirdo when I tell them that Jambi and I take close up butt hole selfies for each other when we're away from each other."

"Great...amazing. Yeah...close up butt hole selfies, amazing."

"Christinith," Crysta-Elizabeth interrupts, finally.

"I was just telling Holly about how much my life has turned around since I brought Semaj back into the house and how she could probably turn her train wreck of a life around if she herself found some sort of special guidance in life."

"Oh woowooow, that does seem like a good idea. Holly, what did you think of the idea?"

"I thought it wouldn't be a bad idea to start looking into things. Who couldn't do without a little more guidance in their lives? Crysta-Elizabeth has said multiple times now how much having her spiritual advisor has helped her."

"Oh yeah, I agree. Thank god I have Jambí, he always makes sure that my chakras are in line when he -"

"So, Holly, we should definitely set something up for you when we get back," Holly doesn't hear what Christinith says as Crysta-Elizabeth nearly yells over her.

"I'd love that, thank you so much, Crysta-Elizabeth. I'm so glad we made up."

"Me too."

-----LATER THAT EVENING-----

CHARACTER KEY

Holly - Chardonnay

"You actually believe her?" The scene opens to after dinner, the ladies had discussed their trip and went rather drama free...which is why it was edited out. What did come up though, was that Holly and Crysta-Elizabeth had a small little get together, again, that morning.

Chardonnay, rightfully so, is still very hesitant to believe that Crysta-Elizabeth has really put Holly's best interests at the forefront by suggesting that she finds her own sort of spiritual guide. She had overheard from Tamika that Crysta-Elizabeth had been talking a lot of bad things about Holly and her relationship.

She obviously didn't tell Holly what she had heard because she was going to be accused of being Tele-nnay once again because Chardonnay has been guilty of spreading rumors herself but only to tell the person that the rumor was about and in the end, she usually gets it wrong and it blows out of proportion.

So, until she has all the information, and not second hand from Tamika, she'll hold that little bit to herself. Plus, all of the women are getting along for a change at the end of a trip for a change.

"It just doesn't seem like her to apologize, so why would she immediately do something shady? I'm not saying I super trust her, not like I used to, but I don't think it's a bad idea to hear her out on at least talking to some of these people."

"Okay, but how can you be sure?"

"I don't know Chardonnay, like I said, it's not like I'm trusting her on this, but maybe this is her way of extending an olive branch, y'know? Who am I to say no? Her and I used to have so much fun with one another back in the day," two months ago, "and I just want to get back to being drama free."

"And when she finds out that you agreed to hook Candi up with your...I want to say golf caddy?"

"Well, what Crysta-Elizabeth doesn't know, won't kill her. At least not yet. I'm trying to keep the peace and I'm keeping that to myself until the very last moment. It's not like Cidnay has even noticed her besides the fact you can't miss her."

"Didn't she say that Semaj said she was close to a breakthrough in her love life? What if he's just telling her what she wants to hear and she's talking about him?"

"That's a problem for a later day, but as of right now, I don't think it's that big of a deal. I mean, Candi deserves the happiness, and Crysta-Elizabeth, well she's been married now, what like four times? She doesn't even know Cidnay and she never really did ask me to introduce them."

"I don't know, Holls. It sounds like you're asking for trouble on this one."

"It's my...friend? Right, my friend. I can introduce him to whomever I want and it's not like I can force him to like someone. Jeesh, as much as Candi was bugging me yesterday to introduce her to him, he may not even like her, he's weird when it comes to women sometimes."

"I just assumed he'd be dating women that looked like they just crawled out of a dumpster."

“His last girlfriend was this girl from France who kept asking for a kiss in French, so he just assumed that was her name, but she still hung around with him and he even brought her to set a lot and that’s why he hasn’t been on The Hour in awhile, because I was sick of prostitutes that he isn’t paying, showing up.”

“.....”

“And then before that, he had this wife, Elizaveta, whose name I still laugh at everytime he says it, because it sounds like he just made it up, but like, she was also gorgeous, Ukrainian, and potentially Mail-Order, but she didn’t have to stick around with him and acknowledge they were together.”

“Jesus...”

“And then his ACTUAL wife, I’m pretty sure they had a kid together, but you see what I’m saying? Last night was so weird, like this is why I don’t get it. Candi is a cute girl, she could do much better than people like DeShawn, but I didn’t mean Cidnay either.”

“You don’t think he’s good for her?”

“At this rate, up is down, left is purple and tomorrow is 1976 with how much sense this whole situation is making. So, I have no idea. But who knows, the two of them could hit off, he’s stupid, she’s stupid...” Holly catches herself before she continues, biting her own lip. She apologizes to Chardonnay for her outburst and for insulting their friend and Chardonnay tells her to calm down.

“I just get so worked up about it, because I don’t understand how he keeps doing it. I mean Crysta-Elizabeth makes sense, he has that whole hermit who may have a million dollars thing going on and she has that ‘I may be in foreclosure,’ thing going on for her so that makes sense to me.”

“Just everything I know right now isn’t making sense.”

“So is that why you’re accepting her help then with this whole spiritual journey? Because the last time she had the whole get together with that midget, you didn’t exactly act like you believed in that kind of stuff.”

“I don’t know, maybe? I guess? I mean, maybe someone can help me make sense of the whole Cidnay bringing in 8’s and above, maybe someone can help me understand why Crysta-Elizabeth, who has been nothing beyond stubborn, has been so ready to work on our friendships? Maybe this is just what I’ve been missing. I’ve been trying so hard to figure it all out on my own and I’m getting nothing.”

“And you think having a psychic on your team will help you?”

“Only time will tell, Chardonnay. Only time will tell.”

“Well, if this is what you think is going to be best for you, I guess I can’t say anything other than give you my support. Who knows, maybe this will be good for all of us to give you some clarifications on things.”

Holly and Chardonnay both shrug and go back to packing up their suitcases as all of the women were going to be leaving early the next morning to head back to the United States, even Candi, who Holly and Chardonnay bought a return ticket for so she didn’t have to fly Spirit back.