... Rod Cumberland, a biologist with the department, said the preliminary count of deer killed is 4,755....That's down by about 350 animals ... 2007, when hunters harvested about 10,000 deer... That year, there were about 110,000 deer in the province, there are now about 75,000... there's been a shift from the woods to around more urban, suburban areas
