

Providing an accessible option to Grid Course Format

The Grid course format supports adding an “accessible” check to user’s profile via a custom user field. This allows the user to toggle between the grid-style course format and the default topics-style course format. The option is discussed in Grid course forum’s Github site, but it wasn’t obvious how administrators should go about implementing it.

Follow the steps below to add the “accessible” check box to users’ profiles:

1. Go to Site admin > Users > Accounts > User profile fields
2. Select “Dropdown menu”
3. Shortname: accessible—it must be named this and is case specific
4. Name: Grid Course Format Accessibility
5. Who is this field visible to: select “Visible to everyone”
6. Default value: unchecked
7. All other Common settings can be left as default

Note: This solution is tied to the Grid course format; it will not work for other course formats.
