

So...what are you doing for Spring Break?

I have been working on homework and trying to relax! I'm at my mom & dad's in NC.

This is part of my homework

Sunset, Wednesday night at Ocean Isle Beach!

I am recovering from pneumonia (5 days in the hospital). This is a lovely fruit basket from my friends at Memorial Elementary School. So resting and catching up on lost time is what this Spring Break is all about for Carrie Eldred. Stacey's beach looks like a great place to rest. Enjoy!

Well I didn't get to my homework over spring break! I was hoping to catch up...but well, it didn't happen! Here's a picture from where we were!

CHICAGO!

Well...sorry it's sideways but for some reason edited pictures go back to the way they were before i edit them. I should probably have uploaded to picasa instead.

Anyway, here is me and three of my kids looking into the reflection in the big bean at millenium park.
