

Using a special UV-light camera, it's possible to see beyond what's invisible to the naked eye. ... The UV camera simply reveals more melanin accumulation than we could ever see unassisted, and the damage appears as dark spot on the skin.

