Ariadne

Physical appearance:

Hair:

Hair color: brown with red flecks
Bows are orange
Eyes: brown
Build: Small and lithe
Age: 17
Element: wind/air

Distinguishing features:

Small orange x across the edge of her right eyebrow. The idea is that it's string, similar to Suzuya Juuzou from Tokyo Ghoul.	 (this location)

Thin ribbon used as a necklace. Wound around 2 times and finished with a bow with long tails.	 Like this, but off-centered, and orange.
Clan tattoo	Off the collar-bone Supernatural style.
Heart tattoo on the inside of her thumb.	 (this position). There's no significance, it was a rash decision when she turned 18.

Background:
When the ban started and governments were starting to capture people, she and her best friend were quickly captured. They were only 7 at the time, and could barely do anything, nevertheless have the ability to conceal their powers. So when the government came, they were able to capture Ariadne first, and she was told not to move, or else they'd kill her. Being the naive child that she was, she listened, fearing for her life. Her best friend, on the other hand, was more rebellious and fought against their captors. Her best friend died fighting, while Ariadne watched from a few feet away.

After her best friend died though, she resolved to never be a bystander ever again. She will always take action, even if in hindsight not taking action would be better.

~~When she was in her mid-teens, her best friend was killed in front of her. At the time, she froze and couldn't do anything. After that incident, she was accused of murdering her friend. Nobody would take her side, not even her family, so, she ran away. As she wandered the area, she ran into Yurenai Kizuna. At first, she tried to fight them (maybe Aristade? I don't know much about the characters as of when I'm writing this, but from what I know, Silane and Artistade seem to be the ones who are most likely to start the group.), but it didn't take long for her to let her guard down and to join the group.~~
~~Now, she wouldn't be so willing to join a random group, since she's fiercely loyal to the Yurenai Kizuna group, but at the time when she met them, she was desperate. After her best friend died though, she resolved to never be a bystander ever again. She will always take action, even if in hindsight not taking action would be better.~~

Personality:
Loud, lively, quirky, and brash. Calm, quiet, and collected are not words that describe Ariadne. She's always ready to go on an adventure and have new experiences. She may not look like it, but she will fight anyone. Anyone. Because of how often she gets in fights, she's often bruised up, but she doesn't let that stop her from doing anything.

Strengths:
- She's a quick thinker, and can sometimes be ingenious
- She's really brave and fearless of anything (almost to the point of stupidly brave)
- Independent
- Loyal

Weaknesses:
- She's brash, spontaneous, and almost volatile.
- When it comes to a fight or flight response, it will always be fight, which can become dangerous if she gets in a situation where she can't fight her way out of it, or will end up overpowered.

- Not very good with thinking ahead and of consequences
- Childish

Likes:
- String/ribbons/yarn
- Friends
- Healthy relationships
- Alice in Wonderland

Dislikes:
- Animals
- Chocolate

Fears:
- Losing people
- Big chompy alligators and sharks
- Heights

Favorite quotes/motives:
- "All the good ones are a little crazy."
- "No great mind has existed without a touch of madness."
- "Shoot first, questions later."

Clothing style:
Obnoxious ribbons and random pieces of fabric that are there for no reason.
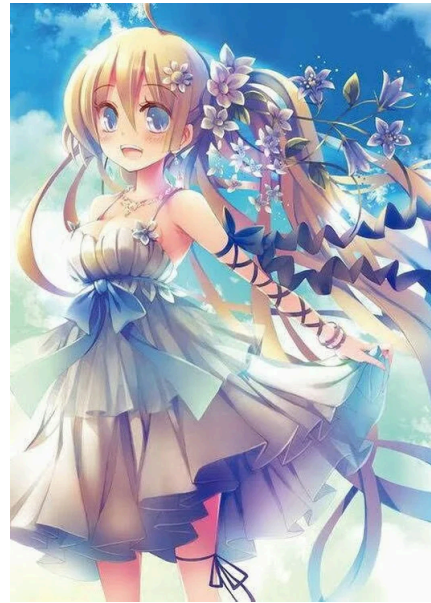

Ex: the two blue pieces of fabric on the back (Rikku from final fantasy)

Ex: the skirt (Yuna from final fantasy)

Ex: the two random pieces of fabric in the back, the long ribbon on her neck (Krul from Owari no Seraph)

Ex: The ribbons on her arm. (I can't find where this is from, I reverse image searched and only got pinterest (which lead me to a random yt channel) and google plus)
