

Zeromiah...HERO FLIER

Zeromiah is a renegade chicken on a mission to rescue other chickens from all over the globe. Zeromiah is no stranger to danger. In his quest to save unsuspecting chickens from the chopping block, he encounters all sorts of characters and gets into many perilous situations.

Zeromiah was once nothing but a zero. He could do little more than just cluck, peck and crow and was really no good at any of those. All the other chickens even said he would never amount to much. So, Zeromiah mostly kept to himself, all alone.

One day, he overheard the farmer tell his wife it was time to get Zeromiah ready for dinner and he did not mean send him an invitation and put a dinner jacket on him! Zeromiah saw the farmer's wife with the ax and put it all together in his tiny little mind that his goose was cooked!...Uh, well, that is, he was about to be cooked!

Out of sheer terror, Zeromiah began to run as fast as his two chicken legs would take him and his wings flapped uncontrollably. Then, suddenly, he took flight! Zeromiah T. Chicken could fly! He could soar, he could loop-the-loop!

Zeromiah vowed to come back and rescue every chicken in the coop. He kept his promise and as he relocated them all safely in a remote location, Zeromiah started his plan to travel the world and rescue chickens of every nationality from the fear of the fryer. Just as he, Zeromiah T. Chicken, has gone from fryer to flier, he will save one chicken at a time, no matter where, no matter when, no matter how long it takes; Zeromiah will not have egg on his face!
